MORE ALIMONY FOR MRS. SHOUP.

Millersburg, May 27.—Judge Nichols after some consideration decided that the Shoup divorce case should be taken to Delaware county and tried before Judge Gill. At the request of the defendant's (Grace L. Shoup) attorneys, the judge allowed her $200 additional alimony, making in all $800 since the commencement of the suit. He has ordered this $200 paid by June 15, and has further ordered that the plaintiff must have his depositions on file there by June 20 and the defendant hers by July 15. The case is set for trial July 19.

PRICE GOT IT.

Lima, O., May 27.—Charles F. Price, a well known newspaper man of this city, was to-day appointed deputy oil inspector for this district.

Beware of cheap imitations, at "cut prices," offered by unauthorized dealers as Doctor Pierce's genuine medicines.

To prevent fraud and imposition, the genuine guaranteed medicines are sold only through regularly authorized agents, and at the following long-established prices:

Golden Medical Discovery (for Liver, Blood and Lung Diseases), ... $1.00
Favorite Prescription (for woman's weaknesses and ailments), ... $1.00
Pleasant Pellets (for the liver), . . 25c.

But at these prices, which must be paid for the genuine, Dr. Pierce's medicines are not only the best, but they're the cheapest, for they're guaranteed in every case to benefit or cure, or the money is refunded.

The manufacturers take all the risk by selling them on trial! It's an insult to your intelligence for any dealer to attempt to substitute other medicines for these, by recommending them to be "just as good," only that he may make a larger profit.

TO SMOKE HIM OUT

Blaine Men at Work in Washington

To Get Harrison to Commence Talking.

When He Does This They Have Him.

He Declines to Ask for the Office.

The New York World Put a Very Pointed Question to the Republican Leaders—Don't All Answer at Once.

New York, May 27.—The World says editorially this morning: "Why? Why is it that no republican leader who amounts to a continental damn speaks up for the man who was elected president four years ago.

"Answer us that.."

BENNY IS WARMING UP.

He Will Not Ask, Neither Will He Refuse a nomination.

New York, May 27.—A special to the World from Washington gives an interview had by its correspondent with President Harrison, in which the president explained his own position as regards the nomination. The president is reported to have said:

"I am too weel acquainted with the meaning of the office of president not to understand the importance of the work to be done at Minneapolis.

"For myself I am not, to use a homely expression, a young robin with a widely open mouth ready to catch everything that comes.. I have spent three very active years in the discharge of my public duties, during which period of time I have acted conscientiously, and solely out of regard for my conception of the exigencies of the public service.

"I have made appointments as nearly as I could in accordance with my views of what was fitting. Of course, there have been disappointments. The task of filling public offices is so arduous that it can really be understood in entirety by only the one on whom the responsibility rests.

"Disappointments sometimes cause discontentment, and discontentment may manifest itself openly. I do not believe that individual disappointments will control the convention at Minneapolis."

"Mr. President, in view of the recent publications, do you now announce your candidacy for re-election?"

The president replied with emphasis: "I have never announced myself a candidate and I do not now. I did not in 1888 on the occasion of the Chicago convention."

As if for emphasis, the president repeated: "I make no such announcement." He added: "The convention at Minneapolis will assemble and take its own action. I am aware that I have been criticised for not calling on my friends and others for their support, but I have been disinclined to do so and my feelings have undergone no change.

"My public and private records are known to the people and whatever they wish will be manifested at Minneapolis. If the people, having in consideration the manner in which I have conducted the presidency desire me, I presume they wil signify their wishes. Meanwhile, I have not, neither will I, proclaim my candidacy."

INSTRUCTED FOR BLAINE.

Fort Wayne Republicans Turn Down Harrison.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 27.—The republican congressional convention for the Twelfth district met in this city yesterday, and after two hour's wrangle ended in a row and split. The Harrison forces withdrew, leaving the Blaine men in full possession of the field.

A resolution was passed annulling the election of Judge W. L. Penfield, of Auburn, as delegate to the national convention, which took place at a convention held in Auburn two months ago, and R. T. McDonald, of Fort Wayne, was elected in his place.

Resolutions were adopted intructing the delegates to the national convention from this district "to cast their ballots for James G. Blaine as long as there is any hope that he will be nominated."

A BILL OF HEALTH.

Mr. Blaine is Once More Told That He is Not Sick.

New York, May 27.—A special to the Press from Washington says Dr. Pepper, of Philadelphia, provost of the University of Pennsylvania, one day last week made a thorough physical examination of Secretary Blaine, at the latter's request.

The doctor sounded Mr. Blaine's lungs, tested his heart, examined his muscles and all his other vital organs. After the examination was finished Dr. Pepper said to Secretary Blaine:

"Mr. Secretary, you are a perfectly sound man; there is not a symptom of organic disease about you. The only possible defect I can discover lies not in either your vesicular or your muscular system. Your nervous system is a little strained, but that can be remedied speedily. You want to look after your eyes and take plenty of exercise. With these precautions you are fit for anything."

The Press says this was one, and perhaps the most striking of many stories narrated Wednesday night at the dinner given by Senator Allison to the following gentlemen: Chairman Clarkson, Vice-President Morton, Senators Hale, Aldrich, Hawley Davis, McMillan and Jones of Nevada, and Representatives Burrows and Henderson of Iowa.

The story about Mr. Blaine's physical condition was supplemented by the statement made upon the authority of one socially intimate with Mrs. Blaine that the lady was greatly pleased with the results of Dr. Pepper's tests, and that Mrs. Blaine is more than ever willing that the secretary should accept the nomination provided it comes as a voluntary gift offering from the republican party as represented in the convention.

New York, May 27.—The Press this morning says that Freddie Gebhard is out in a new role. He has shown his appreciation of Dr. Keeley's alleged cure for drunkenness by establishing a Keeley institute at Babylon, L. I.

ST. MARYS FIELD.

Interesting News from Among the Oil Wells.

St. Marys, O., May 27.—(Special)—For the past six months all eyes have been turned toward the new pool that gave promise of developing something big, on the south side of St. Marys reservoir.

Several good producers had been completed there, and the prospects were very good for the opening up of an extensive field, but this bright outlook very suddenly received a black eye, when the Lang farm well, in Franklin township, was completed, and showed no sign of oil whatever. The well was located almost midway between the reservoir pool and the Lacy farm well, the first one completed in the field south of the reservoir, that gave indications of the existence of a pool. It was confidently expected that the long farm well, which was drilled by the Mars Oil company, would prove to establish a connection, and thus open up a wide scope of new territory, but the venture proved a dismal failure, and it is likely that no more wells will be drilled in that section, for a time at least.

J. H. Van Wormer & Co have completed their test well on the Bennett farm, nearly one mile west of the Ballinger farm oil well, and about one-half mile southeast of the Long farm duster. It is a good gasser of about 2,000,000 cubic feet capacity. This well was also a disappointment.

OHIO PROHIBITIONISTS.

State Convention Held in Columbus.

A Full Ticket Placed in the Field and a Yard-Wide Platform Adopted.

Columbus, O., May 27.—The prohibition state convention assembled yesterday with the following officers: Mr. L. B. Logan, Alliance, president; Miss Henrietta G. Moore, Springfield, secretary; Milo J. Harris, Camden, first assistant; and Mrs. McClelland Brown, of Cincinnati, second assistant. Mr. Logan was conducted to the chair and spoke very enthusiastically.

The platform adopted calls for the suppression of the manufacture and sale of liquor; says that no citizen shall be denied the right to vote on account of sex; that non-resident aliens should not be allowed to acquire land in this country; that a tariff should be levied only as a defense against foreign governments which levy tariff upon or bar out our products from their markets, revenue being incidental; that railroads, telegraphs, and all other natural monopolies, which owe their existence to grants of power from the people, should be controlled by the people; that speculations in margins, the cornering of grain, money, and products, and the formation of trusts and combinations for the arbitrary advancement of prices should be prohibited; that the circulating medium of the country may rightly consist of gold, silver, and paper. It should all be of full legal tender, and sufficient in quantity to meet the demands of business: that laws should be enacted protecting social purity and the "age of consent" should not be less than 18 years: that soldiers and sailors of the late war, their widows and minor children, should have liberal pensions, graded on disabilities and time of service; that all men should be protected by law in their right to one day of rest in seven; that our immigration laws should be so revised as to exclude from our shores all diseased, ignorant persons, paupers and criminals; that every subject should contribute to the necessary expenses of the government in proportion to ability. Taxable property should be listed at actual value less any bona fide indebtedness of the owner thereof: that all official fees should be covered into the public treasury, and officials be paid reasonable salaries; that the president, vice-president, and United States senators should be elected by direct vote of the people.

The following state ticket was nominated: Secretary of state, George L. Case, Cuyahoga county; Supreme judge, long term, Hon. Thomas Crow, Champaign county; short term, John T. Moore, Jackson county; clerk of Supreme court, S. C. Payne, Franklin county; member of board of public works, Joseph J. Ware, Champaign county; delegate-at-large to national convention, H. A. Thompson, Westerville; C. L. Work, Dayton; John B. Martin, Cincinnati; L. B. Logan, Alliance; R. S. Thompson, Springfield; Henrietta G. Moore, Springfield; alternates, Alva Crabtree, Peru; R. A. Emerson, Wood county; S. W. Meek, Portage; E. L. Hitchens, Hamilton; Abraham Teachout, Cuyahoga; Gideon T. Stewart, Norwalk; Mother Stewart, Springfield. Presidential electors: M. Redkey, Leesburg; Morris Sharp, Washington C. H.

Resolutions were adopted condemning the sale of intoxicating liquors at the world's fair, and the running of the fair on Sunday. Also to close the year of the central and executive committees the first Tuesday in December, 1893.

PRICE OF COAL ADVANCED.

New York, May 27.—The western sales agents advanced the price of coal for western points 25 cents per net ton on egg, stove and chestnut sizes. No change was made in broken. At western lake points coal will be $5.75 a ton; at Buffalo $4.75, and at the mines $2.50. All the companies were represented. The eastern sales agents advanced the price of chestnut coal 15 cents, to go into effect June 1. The increase brings the price up to $4.05 per ton, as compared with $3.50 in May and June last year. The June allotment was increased from 2,750,000 to 3,000,000 tons.

DECLARE FOR SUNDAY OPENING.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 27.—The American Federation of Labor has come out flatly in favor of the opening of the world's fair on Sunday.

Samuel Gompers, the president of the Federation, has addressed a circular letter to all the trade unions in the United States urging them to use whatever influence they may each have to secure the opening of the fair on Sunday.

He claims that this is the only day on which the large majority of workingmen can visit the great exposition, and from this standpoint arguing that they should not be deprived of such an opportunity for enjoyment and instruction.

BRICE RENTS A HOUSE.

Washington, May 27.—Senator Brice has rented for five years the old homestead of the late W. W. Corcoran, who died two years ago. It is situated on Lafayette Square, and is a palatial residence, surrounded by spacious grounds. Secretary Elkins tried to rent it, but Mr. Brice came in the winner. The amount paid is not made public, but it is large.

WEEMS TO HAVE A TRIAL.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 27.—Fifteen hundred business men met in the court house yesterday and passed resolutions condemning the tough mob that has run the county since last Thursday. All pledged themselves to see that Weems had a fair trial. The people are thoroughly disgusted with rowdyism.

GREAT DAY IN CHICAGO

Arrival of the Steamer Wergeland.

A Trip of Over Five Thousand Miles.

The Maiden Trip in What Promises Soon to be a Profitable Traffic Between Norway and Chicago.

Chicago, May 27.—(Special Marine Service)—An interesting event in the harbor and in Chicago generally yesterday was the arrival of the Norwegian steamship Wergeland, laden with fish and cod liver oil, direct from Bergen, Norway, the first Norwegian steamer to ever make the passage from Norway direct.

The distance is over 5,000 miles. The Wergeland left Bergen April 12 and arrived at Montreal May 9. She left Montreal May 13, and arrived in Chicago at noon yesterday.

A great deal of time was lost and heavy expense incurred by her having to unload her cargo at Montreal and reload it at Kingston, it being carried that distance in barges.

The Morrisburg canal, in the Canadian system of canals around the St. Lawrence river rapids, has only about nine feet of water, and this fact necessitated the lightening of the cargo, the Wergeland being compelled to lighten up to eight and one-half feet. The cost of this mode of transferring the cargo was very great, and is to be added to the heavy tolls charged by the Canadians through their canals.

At Kingston Capt. Charles Staley, a well-known pilot, was taken on board. He came through to Chicago on her, and will remain aboard until she reaches Kingston again on her home voyage laden with provisions, flour and grain from Chicago.

The steamer is under charter by the month to O. A Thorpe, of Chicago, who is an importer and exporter between Chicago and Norway.

Mr. Thorpe arranged for the reception to the Wergeland, and it was carried out to the letter. The steamer Adrienne, with invited guests and a brass band, left the foot of Van Buren street in the basin shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning and proceeded down the lake, followed by the steamers Viola, Sunbeam, Rosalind and numerous tugs and yachts, all full of people and dressed out in bunting.

Five miles below Grosse Point the receiving delegations and the Norwegian visitor—the pioneer of the lake-Norwegian trade—came together. She was saluted by the whistles of the various steamers from Chicago, and the Wergeland's colors were dipped in acknowledgement. Not a few of the reception committee were astonished at the appearance of the Norwegian merchantman. So trim and beautiful was she, and so gaily was she decked out with the colors of the United States and Norway and the United Kingdom that she seemed like a big steam pleasure yacht. There were expressions of admiration on all sides as to the beauty of her model, her finely proportioned spars, the rake of her great funnel and her open decks. Steel, and substantially built, she seemed a revelation to most of the sightseers.

The Adrienne being put about, was run alongside the Norwegian, when Mr. George Cramer, of the reception committee on the Adrienne, said: "Capt. Wiese, we welcome you, your boat and your crew;" and then the throngs of people on all the steamers indulged in a round of applause. Mr. Thorpe and the Norwegian consul, Mr. Svanoe, stepped aboard the Norwegian from the Adrienne, and the naval pageant started for Chicago, the Adrienne leading with the band playing American and Norwegian airs. Various tugs had fallen in, and the procession numbered ten craft in all. Chicago was reached at noon, and the fleet proceeded up the main river, the Wergeland in the lead with the stars and stripes at her peak, her own burgee on her mainmast, and the colors of Norway and Sweden fluttering to the breeze fore and aft.

The Adrienne came next, the full band discoursing sweet music, and the Viola, Rosalind and Sunbeam following. All the steam craft in the harbor pulled their whistles open, and there was a grand chorus which lasted for several minutes. At the confluence of the river the procession turned and proceeded back to the mouth, where the Wergeland and the Adrienne landed at O'Connor's wharf in Lighthouse Skip. The passage up and down the main river was a continuous ovation.

When the two craft were moored in Lighthouse Skip, the great reception committee from the Adrienne swiftly crowded upon the Wergeland's decks. Consul Svanoe, in a brief address, praised the brave captain and the crew, and said this voyage would mark an epoch in the history of Chicago, especially interesting and creditable to the Norwegian flag.

The captain was then introduced, and was received with rousing cheers. He is not yet 30 years of age, although a thorough navigator, and appears even more youthful than that. He said: "It gives me pleasure to bring you all a greeting from your native land. I, myself, and the crew of the Wergeland appreciate greatly the honor you have bestowed upon us, and, as representing the flag of your fatherland, we are both pleased and proud of this event."

This was followed by long cheering from the descendants of the Vikings, who claim to have discovered America 1,000 years ago.

The Loss of the Kalamazoo.

General surprise was expressed among marine men yesterday that steamer Pilgrim had allowed the steamer Kalamazoo to go to the bottom at all, after holding her up some two hours after she was virtually under water.

"As I hear the story to-day," said a well known steamboat man, "the Kalamazoo was nearly buoyant enough to have floated altogether. The four-inch line connecting her with the Pilgrim was amply sufficient to have held her up without any danger at all to the surviving boat of the collision. In fact, the Pilgrim was in better shape with the weight of the sunken steamer holding the stern down, thereby throwing the crushed bow out of water, than she otherwise would have been.

"I asked Capt. Cummings yesterday why he had not made a more determined effort to save the wreck of his boat. He said that it seemed useless to attempt to tow a boat under water with a four-inch line. Had he been some Chicago tugmen I am convinced that he would have held on to the Kalamazoo's hulk until assistance came or that line parted, if he had staid out in the lake a week."

INDIANA PROHIBITIONISTS.

Rev. Worth, of Jay County, for Governor.

A Full Ticket Placed in the Field—Seventy-two Counties Represented.

Indianapolis, May 27.—The prohibitionists were called to order by Temporary Chairman Denny at the English opera house.

The committee on credentials reported 74 counties represented and 613 delegates present.

M. W. Harkins, of Randolph county, was elected permanent chairman, and M. E. Shiels, of Marion county, secretary.

Mr. Harkins addressed the convention. The various committees, electors and delegates to the national convention were then selected. The platform, in addition to opposing the traffic in alcoholic beverages, declared that the general government without the intervention of banks, should issue the circulating medium of a sufficient volume for the transaction of business for the country. The platform also advocates woman suffrage; favors control of the public means of transportation and communication; a gradual system of taxation; the removal of the tariff from all the necessaries of life and establishment of postal savings banks by the general government.

Rev. Aaron Worth, of Jay county, was nominated for governor.

Lieutenant governor, Charles W. Culbertson, Shelby county; secretary of state, James W. Cormick, Gibson county; auditor, Frank Taggart, Brown county; treasurer, H. H. Moore, Benton county; attorney general, Cutler S. Dobbins, Martin county; reporter Supreme court, John W. Baier, Newton county; superintendent public instruction, E. A. Joyce, Miami county.

The matter of naming candidates for judge of the second and fifth supreme court districts and the second and fourth appellate districts was left to the executive committee.

THE FRONT LEVEE.

It Has Broken and the Danger Is Increasing.

Natchez, Miss., May 27.—The report of the breaking of the Front levee at Gibson's landing, 15 miles north of here, was confirmed last night.

The break occurred yesterday morning. The water went against the new government levee, which is one of the largest in the district. Though some washing is reported, it is thought to be in no danger. If the main levee should give way all of Concordia and a portion of Tensas parish would be flooded.

Two negroes were drowned on the Shamrock plantation yesterday.

DISASTROUS STORM.

Mt. Vernon, O., May 27.—A terrible storm of rain and hail passed over this county at noon yesterday. West of here there was great destruction of farm property and whole fields of wheat were destroyed by the hail. At the Main street viaduct, now building, workmen who delayed seeking shelter to put away tools barely escaped with their lives, so rapidly did the excavation fill up with gravel washed in by the rain. Reports of damage are coming in from all sections of the county.

BOLD ROBBERY AT LIMA.

Lima, O., May 27.—The restaurant of Frank Siebler was the scene of a bold daylight robbery yesterday. The burglar went through the safe, obtaining $400 in cash, a lady's gold watch and two diamond pins. Sieber did not discover his loss for some time, which gave the thief plenty of time to escape.

A Ship Railroad One of the Possibilities.

Lakes Huron and Ontario to be Connected in Order to Hold the Lake Trade.

Toronto, Ont., May 27.—Recent action at Washington looking to an enlargement of the American canal system seems to have had the effect of urging Canadians to increase their advantages in competing for the immense traffic of the lakes.

A strong company of Canadian capitalists has been formed here to carry out the plan of building a big ship railroad to connect Lakes Huron and Ontario.

The company has secured the services of E. L. Corthell, a Chicago engineer, and he has reported favorably on the practicability of the proposed road. The route of the 66 miles from Toronto to Collingwood is, he says, well adapted for a railroad. He is satisfied that a road can be constructed for between $15,000,000 and $16,000,000 capable of carrying vessels of 5,000 tons between the two lakes.

Probably the Dominion and Ontario governments will grant subsidies to the work, and the managing director of the company will go to England to try and raise money there

CLEVELAND AND HILL.

Friends of Two Men Get Together

And Try to Patch Up the Existing Trouble.

Men, High Up in the Democratic Party, Are Bound That There Shall be Harmony.

New York, May 27.—The air was full of rumors yesterday of the conference of the utmost importance regarding the candidacy of Grover Cleveland and Senator Hill.

A number of prominent democrats, including Don M. Dickinson, William Singerly of Philadelphia, Attorney General Henzel and Secretary of State Harrity of Pennsylvania, and ex-District Attorney John R. Read of Philadelphia, were in the city. One report is that Cleveland's attitude toward the May convention is about to be made known in an authoritative way.

Another is that efforts are being made to patch up a truce between Hill and Cleveland.

UNITED PRESBYTERIANS.

An Ohio Man Elected Moderator of the General Assembly.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 27.—The thirty-fourth general assembly of the United Presbyterian church has opened in the Second U. P church, Allegheny. Acting Moderator Rev. Dr. W. W. White, of Xenia, Ohio. Dr. W. J. Reid of this city, was secretary. Rev. Dr. David McDill of Xenia, O., was elected moderator on the second ballot.

Resolutions were adopted expressing pleasure over the position taken by many representatives in the national congress in opposition to the opening of the world's fair on Sundays, and the sale of liquor on the grounds; also expressing hopes that no appropriation would be made except upon condition that the gates are closed on Sundays and the sale of liquor prohibited

The report on statistics showed 60 Presbyteries, 542 ministers with charges, 254 without, 15 ministers received, 24 ordained, 10 died, and seven dismissed. The total membership was 109,018, an increase of 3,000; the total number of Sabbath schools was 1,090, with 98,859 scholars. The total contributions were $1,286,288. The church extension report showed a balance on hand of $9,982.42, with total appropriations of $39,530. There were 76 beneficiaries of the board of education with receipts of $12,913.19. The board of home missions expended $1,098,397.

HIGH WATER AT CREDE.

The Melting Snow is Causing Trouble.

Willow Creek Running Full and Ready to Leave Its Banks at Any Moment.

Creede, Col., May 27.—Creede is in danger of being swept away.

The melting of the snow on the ranges has caused willow creek to rise rapidly, and for the past week it has been running bank full. Last night it was almost out of its banks.

The dykes are apt to give way at any moment. Residences along the valley road are in a perilous position, for once the dyke gives way there is no hope for the town, which is mostly bottom land.

The damage that would result from a flood can hardly be estimated. Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of mining machinery just shipped in would be destroyed.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT LEBANON.

Lebanon, O., May 27.—C. E. Shell, a teacher in the public schools, shot and probably fatally wounded Joseph Lackey, a laborer. The teacher punished Lackey's son for alleged misconduct. The two men met in front of Lackey's house and soon became involved in a quarrel. Lackey struck Shell a hard blow in the face, knocking him down. The latter turned and shot his adversary in the abdomen.

SENSATIONAL DIVORCE SUIT.

Newark, O., May 27.—Something of a sensation has been produced here by the filing of a petition for divorce by Jefferson C. Collet against Myrtle Collet. He makes Dr. D. L. Shipp, a well-known physician and health officer, co-respondent.

IRELAND, TAKE WARNING

America Has Spoken Her Little Peace.

Stop Your Fighting at Home or Else Expect No Aid from the States.

New York, May 27.—The Irish Nationalists' committee, appointed by last November's conference to issue an address, met yesterday and approved a strong manifesto, demanding that the factional strife in Ireland shall cease, or America and Australia will not furnish "sinews of war."

They call the conflicts going on most scurrilous, and declare that it has well nigh forfeited the confidence of Irishmen abroad, won by 12 years of dignified effort for home rule under Parnell's leadership.

The manifesto is signed by the following: J. P. Farrell, New Haven; Thomas F. Keenan, Boston; Dr. Wm. Carroll, Philadelphia; John Devoy, Chicago; James Gibson, Paterson, N. J.; J. P. Howard, Charles O'Donnell, Des Moines; John M. Digney, White Plains; James R. O'Bierne, Michael Breslin, New York; Dr. J. W. Casey, Rochester; John King, Passaic, N. J.

KILLED BY AN OFFICER.

A Deputy Sheriff Stains His Hands With Blood.

Salt Lake City, Utah, May 27.—W. H. Lewis, a deputy sheriff at Sandy, five miles south of here, yesterday entered the shop of J. H. Geir, a barber, and without provocation shot and killed the proprietor. Lewis made his escape.

As Lewis disappeared Geir called to a companion and said: "That man and I never had a quarrel in our lives. I don't know what made him do it." Marshal Janney sent out a detail of officers in pursuit of the murderer. He was captured at Mill creek at 5 o'clock last evening. There is strong talk of lynching.

MULLALLY UNDER ARREST.

St. Louis, May 27.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Joseph J. Mullally, a prominent mining broker, of this city. It is charged that Mullally has hypothecated mining shares entrusted to him. The amount of the embezzlement is not stated, but it is believed will not exceed $10,000.

EX-MAYOR DEAD.

Geneva, O., May 27.—Ex-Mayor Fred Dorman died yesterday of heart disease.

SILVER IN THE SENATE

A Spirited Discussion in the Upper House.

Morgan and Stewart Pulling Together.

A Majority of Eight Mustered on a Vote to Consider the Silver Measure.

Washington, May 27.—At the beginning of the present week probably not one of the most sanguine friends of the free silver coinage proposition had the smallest measure of hope or expectation that anything in the semblance of such a bill could be gotten before congress again this session. Yesterday, as the result of an adroit move on the part of Mr. Morgan, the senate was suddenly obliged to record itself on what the free coinage senators call "the square issue." The details of yesterday's proceedings are interesting from two points of view: First, as a signal manifestation of the desire of the majority of the senate to at least have arguments upon and give consideration to the free silver coinage bill; and, second, as an exhibition of successful parliamentary management in forcing the senate to record itself upon an important question notwithstanding the most strenuous efforts of a large number of leading spirits of the body to avoid the issue. As a result of the day's proceedings, the Stewart free silver coinage bill is before the senate as the unfinished business. It has displaced the alien bill, and can be gotten rid of only by voting upon its passage, or by an affirmative vote to take up another measure whenever the morning hour expires.

The outcome cannot be predicted. The anti-silver men say the action means only a profitless discussion; the silver men say it means the speedy passage of a free silver bill.

Mr. Morgan's silver resolution was again taken up and Mr. Morgan resumed his argument. He denied that his object was to influence political conventions. He wanted legislation; and hopeless as that seemed now, if the senators who indicated their position yesterday by their votes against referring the resolution would adhere steadily and courageously to their convictions, his judgment was that, before the close of this congress, that vexed question would have passed entirely out of consideration, and the people would have their way. He could not conceive that the president of the United States, who was an avowed bi-metallist, would undertake to set up his judgment, finally in the form of a veto against the expressed will of both branches of congress. The president, he hoped earnestly, would defer to the judgment of the people, and would espouse with pride the idea that the American people intend in their financial legislation to take the lead, which would answer their domestic purposes and would also control the other nations of the earth, to a large extent in their financial operations. There was no question to-day before the people of the United States that came as near to their hearts and their pockets as the question of the free coinage of silver. The people were not agitated about changes in the tariff.

Mr. Higgins asked Mr. Morgan to give some proof or demonstration of his argument against "the gold men."

"If I should bring demonstrations strong as proof of Holy Writ," Mr. Morgan replied, "the senator from Delaware would be of the same opinion still, and I will not waste any of my time.

"If the senator will vote with me to take up the bill of the senator from Nevada (Mr. Stewart) we will have a test vote on taking up the bill, and I will most heartily enter with him into discussion. I hope that the senator from Nevada will move to take up his bill, and let us have a direct vote upon it."

Coming again to the question of the likelihood of a presidential veto of a free silver coinage bill, Mr. Morgan said: "We have had other presidents to veto silver bills; and what has become of them? There is a very prominent gentleman now before the country whom every democrat in the United States honestly loves and reveres for his manly integrity, his great, broad statesmanship, and his splendid administration of the government; and yet because democrats love the people more than they do him they would see him go to his political grave in a moment rather than take him and put him where he would have opportunity to join hands with the senator from Ohio in inflicting the final death-blow on silver. The democrats of this country would not know, in the event of Grover Cleveland being at the head of their ticket, and of the senator from Ohio being at the head of the other ticket, which to prefer in regard to their attitude to destroy silver. I suppose that the gratitude of those men who have been enabled to expand and contract the currency of the country would give the senator from Ohio the preference over the ex-president.

Mr. Sherman replied to Mr. Morgan, and defended the finance committee from the charge of neglect or inaction.

While Mr. Sherman was still speaking Mr. Morgan's amendment went over without action. Mr. Stewart, however, promptly rose, and remarking that he would give senators the opportunity of having a test vote on the question, moved to take up the bill (introduced by him and reported adversely from the finance committee) to provide for the free coinage of gold and silver bullion and for other purposes. The yeas and nays were called for by Mr. Morgan.

The vote was thereupon taken, and the result was announced as: Yeas, 28; nays, 20.

The following is the vote in detail:

Yeas—Messrs. Allen, Bate, Butler, Cockrell, Coke, Colquitt, Harris, Jones (Ark.), Jones (Nev.), Kenna, Kyle, Mills, Getchell, Morgan, Paddock, Peffer, Power, Pugh, Ransom, Sanders, Shoup, Stanford, Stewart, Teller, Turpie, Vest, Voorhees, Walthall—23.

Nays—Messrs. Cameron, Cullom, Davis, Dawes, Dixon, Dolph, Gallinger, Gray, Hale, Hawley, Higgins, Morrill, Palmer, Perkins, Proctor, Sawyer, Stockbridge, Vilas, White, Wilson—20.

Mr. Hill was not in the chamber when the vote was taken, and no pair was announced for him.

The Free Silver Bill.

The full text of Mr. Stewart's bill is as follows:

That from and after the date and passage of this act the unit of value in the United States shall be the dollar, and the same may be coined of 412 1-2 grains of standard silver or of 25.8 grains of standard gold; and the said coins shall be legal tender for all debts, public and private. That hereafter any owner of silver or gold bullion may deposit the same at any mint of the United States to be formed into standard dollars for his benefit and without charge; but it shall be lawful to refuse any deposit of less value than $100 or any bullion so base as to be unsuitable for the operations of the mint.

Sec. 2. That the provisions of section 3 of "An act to authorize the coinage of the standard silver dollar and to restore its legal tender character," which became a law February 28, 1878, is hereby made applicable to the coinage in this act provided for.

Sec. 3. That the certificates provided for in the second section of this act shall be of denominations of not less than $1 or more than $10,000, and such certificates shall be redeemable in coin of standard value. A sufficient sum to carry out the provisions of this act is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 4.—That the certificates provided for in this act and all silver and gold certificates already issued shall be receivable for all taxes and dues to the United States of every description and shall be a legal tender for the payment of all debts, public and private.

Sec. 5. That the owners of bullion deposited for coinage shall have the option to receive coin or its equivalent in the certificates provided for in this act and such bullion shall be subsequently coined.

Debate on the bill was opened by Mr. Stewart, who was followed by Mr. Teller. The latter contradicted most positively a statement quoted by Mr. Sherman to the effect that if silver went up to $1.29 per ounce the product of silver in this country would be quintupled. Such a statement, he said, was made in the grossest ignorance or in the most malicious mischief. There was no possible excuse for such a statement; and yet the senator from Ohio had given to it the sanction of his authority. The United States delegates to the international bi-metallic conference would be met with that statement at the first meeting of the conference. What the silver men complained of was that the action of 1873 in the demonetization of silver had appreciated gold at least 40 per cent. It has reduced the price of agricultural productions and the value of farms, houses and lands; and it has reduced the wages of the people of the country. Th question, he said, was big enough for discussion; and he hoped that senators on the opposite side of the question would find time to give to the American people some arguments on the subject. No senator took the floor to continue the debate when Mr. Teller concluded. During the first part of his speech Mr. Hill came into the chamber and took his seat, where he was engaged for some time in conversation with Mr. Stewart. He did not seem at all interested in the speech and left before it ended.

CONFERENCE CLOSED.

Methodists Leave Omaha for Home.

The Woman Question Still Unsettled and Left to the Annual Conferences.

Omaha, Neb., May 27.—The Methodist conference has closed. The woman question was taken up at last. The judiciary committee had reported that the word "laymen" in the report did not mean both sexes. The committee did not mean to take the ground that the women should be admitted; but simply the meaning the word "laymen," as it was placed in the discipline years ago did not include women. Dr. D. H. Moore, the women's champion, got the floor and offered a substitute declaring that the plan of lay delegations was not a constitutional question, but it might be decided by the action of the general conference, and, therefore, that the general conference might decide the right to admit women to the general conference with a constitutional change. He held further that the word "laymen" did mean women as well as men. The term might have been applied only to men at the time the words were adopted; but by all justice and right the term ought to be applied to both men and women.

Dr. A. J. Kynett did not agree with the report. He held that the word "laymen" meant both men and women.

Dr. Hamilton offered a substitute providing that the annual conference should vote upon the proposition to make the word "laymen" mean men only, and in case the proposition was not carried by a two-thirds vote then word "laymen" should thereafter mean both men and women. This was a great hit. It was received with hearty applause.

Dr. J. M. Buckley rolled out a vigorous speech going to show that the word "laymen" never meant women. Drs. Hamilton and Moore, he said, were trying to get the women into the conference by a trick. If this effort succeeded it would place a stain upon the record of the men who presented such a scheme and would be a questionable right granted to the women. There was great applause at the close of his speech mingled with cries of "no, no," by the friends of the women.

Dr. Fields, of Philadelphia, held that the admission of women would drive the young men and boys out of the church. He pleaded for the young men, begging the conference and all the women of the church not to admit women.

Dr. Bristol was opposed to the scheme proposed by Dr. Hamilton. He held that the women should not come in by jugglery; but by a vote of the conferences, or not at all. This was the only way by which the women could come into the general conference in a constitutional manner. A motion was made to lay Dr. Hamilton's amendment on the table. It was not tabled.

Dr. Hamilton's amendment provided that the word "laymen" as applied to lay delegates must mean male delegates, and in case this interpretation of the word is not sustained by a two-thirds vote of the annual conferences and a three-fourths vote of the general conference, then the word "laymen" shall mean both men and women, and will of course admit the women as lay delegates. Dr. Hamilton's amendment was adopted by a vote of 234 to 174. The result was tumultuously applauded. The question was divided. Dr. Moore's part of the paper was laid on the table. Dr. Hamilton's substitute was then adopted by a vote of 241 to 160 to take place of all other parts of the paper and be submitted to the annual conferences. The victory was greeted by a long burst of applause.

Reduction of Representation.

A resolution was submitted to ask the annual conference to reduce the ratio of representation from one delegate for each 45 ministers to one for every 90 ministers in the annual conferences. It was adopted by a vote of 177 to 123. The effect of this is to make the general conference a smaller body. The roll was then called to see how many of the delegates were present and who they were at the last session.

HIS PERSONAL EXPERIENCE.

Hon. James W. Husted, while serving his sixth term as speaker of the assembly of the state of New York, writes:

"State of New York, Assembly Chamber, "Albany, Jan. 16, 1890.

"I desire once more to bear my testimony to the value of Allcock's Porous Plasters. I have used them for twenty-five years past, and can conscientiously commend them as the best external remedy that I have known. Years ago, when thrown from a carriage and seriously injured, I gave them a thorough trial. In a very short time the pain that I was suffering disappeared, and within a week I was entirely relieved. On another occasion, when suffering from a severe cough, which threatened pulmonary difficulties, which I was recommended to go to Florida to relieve, I determined to test the plasters again. I applied them to my chest and between the shoulder blades, and in less than a fortnight was entirely cured. On still another occasion when suffering from an attack of rheumatism in the shoulder to such an extent that I could scarcely raise my arm, I again resorted to the plasters, and withing a very few days the rheumatism entirely disappeared. I have them constantly by me, whether at home or abroad. My family as well as myself have found them to be a sovereign remedy, both for external and internal troubles. I never had but one kidney difficulty in my life, and the application of the plasters cured me in a week. I desire, as I said before, to bear my testimony in a public way to their efficacy, and I know of no better way of doing it than by giving you my personal experience."

It Opened in New York With Slow Play.

Interesting Gossip of the Diamond.

News for the Sports Gathered in all Parts of the World for Bee Readers.

New York, May 27.—The pool tournament between Albert G. Powers and John Werner, of Chicago, and Charles Manning, of New York, and Alfredo De Oro, of Cuba, for $1,000 a side, the largest stake ever played for in a pool tournament, was commenced last night. About 500 people were in attendance. The contest is for 600 balls at 200 balls a night. Charles H. Foster, of New York, was referee, and Powers was the first man to break. He failed to score, but the Cuban champion put 15 balls in the pocket. Then Werner failed, while Manning ran 7. None of the shots were remarkable. The 200th ball was made on the 26th frame by Manning, the score being: De Oro and Manning, 206; Powers and Werner, 176.

ANOTHER PAPAL DOCUMENT

And the Much Discussed School Question.

The Decree in Full as Issued from Rome Bearing on the Faribault Case.

Rome, May 27.—The Holy See has addressed a letter to each of the Catholic bishops in the United States concerning the arrangements of the archbishop of St. Paul regarding Catholic schools at Faribault and Stillwater. The letter states that several persons have been convinced that the archbishop of St. Paul's manner of acting in the two mentioned cases of Fairbault and Stillwater did not conform to precedent and they have, therefore, not hesitated to condemn the archbishop's action while others have approved it. The discussion has become embittered, and, what is much regretted, the animated debate on the question in the public press has shown that the judgment of the bishops does not appear to be identical and unanimous on the subject.

As it is greatly to be feared that the situation may do harm to the cause of religion, to the honor of the church, and to the concord so desirable and necessary among the sacred pastors, since this concord brings with it the peace of the flock committed to their care, the Holy See has judged it opportune to reserve to itself the examination of the affair and to put an end to all discussion by its decision.

This examination was entrusted to several of the Reverend Fathers of the sacred congregation of the propaganda, and they, at their meeting on April 21, 1892, having maturely and carefully considered, as put forward in the various reports presented to them, the action of the archbishop of St. Paul, and keeping in view the particular circumstances and the manner and conditions under which the arrangement was concluded, have considered it their duty to give out the following decree, approved this day by the Sovereign Pontiff:

While firmly maintaining in force the decrees of the councils of Baltimore regarding parochial schools, the convention concluded that the steps taken by the Rev. Father John Ireland relating to the schools of Fairbault and Stillwater, can, taking all circumstances well into consideration, be tolerated.

Taking advantage of the opportunity the reverend fathers earnestly recommend to the venerable bishops of the United States to continue as they have done heretofore, to work with one accord for the salvation of the souls entrusted to their care and for the good of the religion that, by the grace of God, they have so honored in the Christian republic. Verily this union of intellect and energy should be the more consolidated, inasmuch that at the present time more errors than ever are abroad, and there are many enemies to combat and numerous obstacles and difficulties continually arising which it is necessary to vanquish.

The reverend fathers also make known their desire that on the first occasion that the archbishops of the United States meet together they shall diligently inquire as to what means are necessary to provide for the salvation of the many Catholic children, who, according to trustworthy statistics, attend the public schools in preference to parochial schools.

The pastorial solicitude and ardent zeal in the cause of religion, of which the bishops of your vast country are animated, are well known to the sacred congregation of the propaganda, who take it without question that you will take greatest pains to find the most opportune remedies to efficiently combat these evils.

The sacred congregation does not entertain the slightest doubt that in their filial veneration of the Apostlic See they will put an end to all discord in order to work constantly together, of one accord, and in mutual understanding to secure the end in view, the safeguarding and progress of the Catholic religion.

THE OPENING CHAPTER

In the Celebrated Case of Dr. Briggs.

The Appeal from the New York Assembly.

The Case Stated and the Way Paved for a Long-Winded Argument—Doings of the Assembly.

Portland, Ore., May 27.—The Presbyterian assembly has at last got down to the Briggs' case.

The order was for an opening address for the appellants, a reply by Dr. Briggs, the appellee, and a rebuttal by the prosecution, each party being limited to 90 minutes.

Dr. Birch, for the appellants, took the floor to speak on behalf of himself and colleagues. He gave some reasons why the appellants have overleaped the synod of New York. This course is based upon the provision of section 102 of the book of discipline, that appeals shall generally be taken to the next superior judicatory. It was claimed first that the course of procedure is a constitutional form of government. Chapter 12, sections 4 and 5, state that the general assembly shall receive and issue all appeals, and shall have the power of deciding in all controversies respecting doctrine and discipline. While the appellants have gone around ordinary procedure, they have acted in a regular and constitutional manner. The present course is taken in order to get constitutional advice, which the assembly alone can give, in order to restore peace in the church. Has, then, this committee done right to bring this question before this assembly in showing irregularities in the action of the presbytery of New York?

Second—The question is one of intense importance.

Third—The case involves doctrines which are fundamental to the church, and of greater importance than any other question which has ever agitated the historic controversies concerning the relations of Gentile Christians to Hebrews, the doctrine of the Trinity and of justification of faith.

Fourth—A general question is now to be settled. The plea of appellants is enforced by presbyteries here represented which have spoken to a number of more than four score in trumpet tones in opposition to the views referred to.

Fifth—The presbytery of New York committed errors in its administration of law and compelled the committee to appeal.

Sixth—If the prosecutor were an individual, some show of reason might be presented as to which regular procedure shall be followed; but the appellant is the Presbyterian church in the United States of America.

By implication, said Dr. Buch, faithlessness in ordination vows was alleged. In the name of the church and with abundant precedent, in the name of the administration of the law, your appellants respectfully and earnestly ask the general assembly to entertain our appeal.

When Dr. Buch took his seat a point of order was made that the appealee in the case is the presbytery of New York. The moderator decided it not well taken.

Dr. Briggs in Reply.

Dr. Briggs took the floor to object to the entertainment of the appeal. He stated that he is not responsible for the action of his presbytery, and for it had not asked, yet he is compelled to appear, seemingly to defend the presbytery. He proceeded to give some account of the history of the case, and stated his reasons for appealing. His answer was also based upon the word "generally." He asserted that strong reasons must be given before any departure from the ordinary methods should be allowed. Exceptions are not always permissible, even at the discretion of the assembly, without commanding reasons for such a course. In this case there are no exceptional reasons why an appeal should be entertained, and there are insuperable reasons why it should not be entertained. The points made by Dr. Briggs were as follows:

"The reasons presented by appellants are not such as to justify the general assembly in entertaining their appeal. Four reasons are given—first, their belief that this is one of the most important questions in the history of the Presbyterian church. It is a valid reason why they should appeal to the synod of New York, provided they have a right of appeal, which we do not concede. But it is not a valid reason why they should pass over the synod of New York and appeal to the general assembly. If they think they can sustain their charges, the synod of New York is the judicatory before which they should go; otherwise they must assign valid reasons for the opinion that the synod of New York may not do them justice.

But the importance of the trial is another reason why the synod as an intermediate judicatory ought to have its constitutional share in the proceedings. If the assembly could entertain this reason, you would wrong the defendants. The defendant does not think it creditable that this general assembly could do him such wrong.

The second reason is the desire to secure a condemnation of errors of the defendant by the supreme judicatory; but the supreme judicatory cannot condemn the defendant, or his recourse, without a trial, for it lacks original jurisdiction in the case, and can only act after a verdict has been given in the Presbtery. These reasons cannot be entertained without prejudicing the case. The defendant claims that his address is in entire concord with holy Scripture and the system of doctrine taught in the Westminster confession. Again and again he has affirmed his adherence to the confession and the Scriptures. He is entitled to the presumption of innocence until he is proven guilty after trial.

IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Has it Lost Its Force in This Country.

Prominent Men Think the Recent Manifesto for Unity Will Fall on Deaf Ears.

New York, May 27.—Leading members of the local Irish societies seem to be a unit in the opinion that the manifesto issued a few days ago by the Irish National League of America urging unity of action in Ireland as a condition of financial support from the United States will fall upon deaf ears, both in this country and abroad.

During the past two years, so it is claimed, the influence of the National League, which was once a strong and potent factor in Irish affairs, has declined in proportion to the falling off in its membership, until both are to-day merely nominal.

Members of most of the municipal Irish councils say that a new organization with leaders of prominence and reputation might be able to exert a strong influence, not only in this country but in England, during the coming electoral campaign, but that the National League as it exists to-day is generally regarded as having so little influence that its latest appeal will fall upon deaf ears.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Lima, O., May 27.—While the bridge builders of the Chicago & Erie road were raising the ropes and derrick at the bridge just east of town, a guy rope broke, letting the derrick fall. The foreman, C. D. Hughes, was crushed to death by the timbers. His family, a wife and two children, live at Ravenna.

HEALTHY. HAPPY. WHY?

Is he a bright child? Does he look healthy and happy? He is bright, and he is both healthy and happy. He is the little son of Mrs. Henry T. Bowers, wife of the well-known contractor and builder, who resides in Dorchester avenue, South Boston. Mrs. Bowers has had quite an experience with her children, which experience we have in her own words, as follows:

"I have a little boy two and one-half years of age, the perfect picture of rugged health, and also a little girl of four. I attribute their good health and good temper to the use of Dr. Hand's Remedies.

I have used, as occasion required, the entire line, and have had very marked results from the Colic Cure, Cough and Croup Medicine, and the Pleasant Physic. I have never had any but good result from the use of any of them."

No mother would make a statement like the above unless she knew wholly whereof she affirmed.

Mr. Brainard was at one time a resident of Cleveland, but has lived in Toledo for almost 40 years. In 1852 he was one of the men who staked out the location of the Kennard house. During the same year, with Mr. John H. Sargent, he made the preliminary survey for the first pipes laid in Cleveland to supply the people with water from the lake.

TO STOP FALLING WATER.

An injunction suit, something out of the usual line of this class of litigation, was filed in Common Pleas court to-day.

The action is brought by L. H. Pike against James H. Davis, to enjoin him from further permitting the water to flow from the roof of his house onto his land.

The plaintiff alleges in his petition that the defendant owns a large house adjoining a property of his and that the eavetrough and conduction of this house are so defective that almost the entire amount of rain water falling on the northerly roof flows onto the plaintiff's property.

A temporary injunction was granted.

Banana Stand Operators Violating the Law Daily.

To stand on the corner of Summit and Madison streets for a few minutes any day one sees the owner or operator of the fruit stand on that corner literally strew the street with banana and orange peels.

This morning the streets at the intersection looked like the back yard of a boarding house.

The proprietor stood on the corner munching bananas, and as fast as he could peel the fruit he threw the skins out in the street.

The outrage should be promptly stopped. An arrest and a fine would settle the nuisance.

THAT CAREY LIBEL SUIT.

An important motion was filed in United States court by Col. H. S. Bunker, attorney for the defense, in the case of Carl E. Warner against Wm. T. Dickerson, David S. The petition in the case sets up that the committee published certain libelous statements in a newspaper of Carey.

The defense moved that certain lines of the petition be stricken out; also that the plaintiff be required to give the name of each and every consumer of natural gas in Carey, to whom, by reason of the alleged libelous publications set out in the plaintiff's petition, the plaintiff has been prevented from selling and distributing natural gas.

Further that the plaintiff be required to give the name or names of each of the citizens of the village of Carey who were influenced and prevented by the alleged publication from dealing with the plaintiff in his business.

ROUTING AN ARMY.

How the Worst Invasion of Modern Times Is Absolutely Overcome—Hints of Great Value.

When men or women feel depressed or debilitated at the present day, it is common to say, "I think I have malaria." What is malaria? It is only germs that get into the body; germs that thrive and increase unless they are killed; germs that worm themselves all through the system; germs that ruin the health and undermine the life. They are aggressive, they feed upon the body, they must be killed. Many things which have been advocated for killing these germs will not do so. It has been thought that quinine would accomplish this, but many people cannot take quinine; it disagrees with them, it often nauseates. It is known, however, that pure spirits taken in moderation will kill and entirely exterminate the worst army of germs which ever invaded the system. They cannot withstand it. Under the influence of pure stimulants the germs are killed, and the body is strengthened to expel them from the system, and thus restore the health.

It should not be understood, however, that all spirits will do this, few will. It requires something specially pure, and specially designed for this purpose, and that is precisely what Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is. It is a scientific, medicinal preparation. It does not rank with the ordinary whiskies, but is specially designed for fortifying the body and repelling disease. It has the highest endorsements of doctors and scientists; it is wonderfully popular because it is so efficient and powerful. Do not be deceived into the use of any other, for there is no other preparation upon the market that can accomplish what is accomplished by Duffy's Pure Malt. You will find that it is kept by reliable druggists and grocers.

Art and Taxation.

The sixth international art exhibition opens in Munich, June 1. All European cities will send work selected by juries of the various schools. We are not "in it." Our artists are struggling with a tax law made to "protect" them, which they declare they do not want and will not allow to remain if they can help it. Before the year 1861 there was no tax on art; in '61 a tax of ten per cent. was levied. After twenty-three years of peace the war tax was multiplied by three in the face of protest from those whom it proposed to benefit!

In reviewing the thirty per cent. levy, before the art association, assembled at the capital last week, Kate Field said:

"The history of the passage of this measure is significant reading.

"It was not advocated by the press.

"It was not demanded by the people.

"It was not recommended by the tariff commission.

"No bill was introduced or considered.

"No legislator proposed or advocated it.

"Congressional requirements were not complied with.

"Senate and house disagreed on details of a bill on general tariff.

"The committee of conference inserted two or three lines which were passed unnoticed, March 3, 1883.

"Does not such a trick savor of dishonesty?

"Taxation is justified by two reasons, revenue and protection. This increase, therefore, was an outrage; for revenue was not needed, and artists wanted no protection.

"The law was disastrous in its results. The sales of American artists decreased; the demands for American art lessened. The export of paintings amounted to $287,000 in 1883, and fell to $176,000 in 1884. Foreign nations remonstrated, as well they might; for in Italy, France, Germany and Russia art is free; while in all other countries, except Servia and those speaking Spanish, it is taxed only eight per cent."

Miss Field and her artist friends should understand that the acts of our government are no longer guided by the consent of the governed. This is a government for the high-tax party. If Mr. McKinley and his protection advocates insist upon a tax on art, to be consistent with their theories, artists must submit.

Watterson's Influence.

It was a representative democratic convention that assembled in Louisville this week to arrange Kentucky's preliminaries for the great political campaign of 1892. More important than the question of how Kentucky's vote shall be cast in November (we all know how that will be), is the question of Kentucky's vote and influence in the Chicago convention, which ought to nominate the next president of the United States.

The brethren across the Ohio are as ardent admirers of the last democratic president as are the millions of democrats in other sections of the country, but they were not stampeded into rash hero-worshipping. Grover Cleveland will be nominated at Chicago, if his friends can demonstrate beyond peradventure that he can carry New York. The party elsewhere will see that Indiana, New Jersey, Connecticut and the southern states are all right. New York is the factor of present grave doubt.

There was a disposition in the Louisville convention to blindly commit Kentucky to Mr. Cleveland. Except for the powerful personal influence of Henry Watterson the movement would have succeeded. Single handed he combatted that idea in his newspaper, and bravely he carried the question into the convention, and succeeded in sending Kentucky's delegation to Chicago uninstructed, himself at the head of the delegation. Now the state will command influence in Chicago and will assist in doing the best possible good for the democratic party and the country. It was a democratic victory in Kentucky, the chief agency in the accomplishment of which was Mr. Watterson.

Other states should be in a similar commanding position. Each delegate should be free to exercise his best judgment for the common good. That is democracy, the best kind of democracy.

Daniel's Stone.

It is recorded in Holy Writ that Daniel the Prophet slew a lion with a stone. Of course it has never been disputed that the lion died right then and there and never came to life again. The further life and peregrinations of Daniel are sacredly recorded, and, in due time he was taken to his everlasting reward where, it is orthodox to believe, he now is. But the third agency of this story was dropped and neither sacred nor profane history has ever told us what became of the stone.

It has remained for an Ohio man, after the lapse of centuries, to tell us all about it; and, if we may believe him, the very spot that smote the lion and made him feel sick unto death, is indicated on the very stone which came down by regular succession to this Ohio man, who now offers it for exhibition at the world's fair. It is a curio, though a greater is the crank who says he has Daniel's original stone.

An Ohio congressman picturing the prosperity of the New England farmer, in the House, the other day, a Mississippian called him down in his flight of oratory by some reference to cold facts. Mr. Milliken of Maine felt called upon to interfere and say:

He did not know of an abandoned farmhouse in his county, and that there were more barns in his district fit for a gentleman to live in than he had seen houses in Mississippi fit for gentlemen to inhabit.

The Boston Globe, something of a New England authority, reminds Mr. Milliken that many of these fine barns and houses on farms in his own state as well as in Massachusetts are tenantless and for sale, and that census returns show the condition of farm prosperity in New England. One outside of the locality might say if Maine barns are better than Mississippi houses, something else, not desired by Mr. Milliken, may be proven.

The thousand-mile bicycle journey demonstrated the fact that the wheel will be of no great war-time service except on good roads. It would kill men to do work of which the recent test was a sample. The bicycle, as now constructed, is a fair-weather traveler, and demands good roads, which we have not got in this country and do not seem to have time or money to build. There is so much politics to attend to and campaigning is so expensive, whether the motive power comes direct out of people's pockets, or by the route of the treasury in Washington. The cyclers must wait—the Lord knows how long.

The Logical Candidate.

"Harrison is the logical candidate," says a Harrison organ. Right you are—he stands for everything that any other republican does and more too. He keeps disreputable men in office, he has broken his civil service pledges all to flinders, he tried to crowd the force bill through, he appointed his smirched aiders and abetters to high places of trust, he stood for the high-tax bill which Mr. Blaine denounced with vehemence—certainly he is the logical candidate. But his party doesn't care any great shakes for logic.

Four large pythons from Africa, for the show business, are stuck in the New York custom house because the officers do not know how to classify them. As we can't possibly grow pythons in this country without African stock to start with, this quartet might be put on the free list along with dried bladders, alizarine and coculus indecus. 'Twould count one more article unburdened of tax in the interest of the consumer. Not that we consume many pythons, but it sounds well for the cause and puts the people under renewed obligations to the trade-managing party.

It ought not to be a hopeless task, that of weeding out the fraudulent and undeserving pensioners on the list. If, in justice, we must pay more for pensions than Germany pays for the support of her expensive and extensive army of to-day, then every honest citizen whose tribute helps swell the fund will desire that the genuine fighting soldiery shall have it all. The people's money has built too many mansions for pension shark attorneys. It was a republican who said, that for a quick-come fortune he would make choice between an Indian agency and a favored pension attorney's pull.

"Where is Democracy leading?" asks the New York Recorder, and answers its own question—"by way of tariff reduction to free trade." And this was the advice of the revered Garfield to his fellow-republicans years ago. He said "every revision of the tariff should be in the direction of free trade." No good republican should find fault with the democracy for leading in the way pointed out by a president of his own party.

Col. Shepard cautiously says:

It is our private judgment that the "anything-to-beat-Harrison" men are trifling with Mr. Blaine and that he has found it out.

Did the colonel ever hear of what sometimes comes to pass from trifling with the executive department of a hornet's nest?

Tens of thousands of flood victims in Arkansas and Mississippi are suffering for food and clothes. Their case is as urgent as that of the subjects of the Czar of Russia. Charity need not end at home, but it should begin there.

Boss Platt thinks Blaine and Gresham would be a winning ticket. Odd enough that the people's party organized to combat republican class legislation should be considering a man for candidate who is also acceptable to the republican bosses!

Lincoln as a second on the Blaine ticket sounds well but—Lincoln has not the spondulix expected in a republican v. p. candidate. The one thing considered, Alger is the man.

Governors of flooded states of the south and west have issued appeals for food and clothes for the destitute. The response will be prompt and generous.

Raum is for Harrison!

It would seem just now, when we are paying up deficiency bills for the last congress, and are short of money, that we might worry along a little farther without a 20,000-dollar statue to Robert Dale Owen. Inasmuch as there is a tax on art, and as every man anywhere pokes fun at the majority of Washington sculpture—wouldn't be better wait a bit?

The City of New York has beaten the record of the Teutonic. She did not make the journey across sooner, but she took the longer route and made the trip quicker, mile for mile. That's what happens to a ship which, thanks to a democratic congress, may float the stars and stripes.

Mistress Woodhull says "time and common sense are catching up with me." Time caught the old girl some little while ago, but common sense is getting leg-weary.

The Inter-Ocean says "Harrison will fight Blaine to the bitter end." But Blaine isn't doing any fighting—he doesn't need to. What will Harrison do then?

More is said about Victoria Woodhull's candidacy than about Henry W. Blair in such connection. Alas, for the Ex-Minister to China!

Pennoyer and Polk is the latest combination by advisers of the People's party. Alliterative if not inspiring.

It's bad for Blaine that he must mind his P.'s and Q.'s—meaning Platt and Quay.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Yesterday's anti-snap democratic primaries seemed to have altogether too much go in them to allow a certain distinguished senator much quiet of mind in this city.—New York Herald.

Office-seeking doesn't seem to exempt anybody from its enchanting embrace. There are now three vacant chaplaincies in the United States army and over 4,000 clergymen of different denominations are enrolled on the recommendations on file.—Oswego Palladium.

It is sad, but true, that there is scarcely an important republican newspaper in the country supporting Harrison for renomination whose editor has not held office under the administration. And, as a rule, the fatter the office the warmer the support.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

The poll of the national editorial excursionists is interesting because it shows the republicans divided with 86 for Harrison and 72 for Blaine, while among the democrats 117 are for Cleveland, 12 for Boies and 7 for Hill. It is the old story, practical unanimity for Cleveland as against all comers.—Kansas City Star.

Ex-Commissioner Tanner, in defending the rerating of Dudley's pension, has told the Raum investigating committee that he knows an amputated leg when he sees it from long experience with two. But he has neglected to say, what he might have said, that by the same token he knows a decapitated head when his eyes fall on one.—New York World.

Suppose the democrats should carry Massachusetts, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Nebraska, Oregon and Pennsylvania? They all have democratic governors now, showing that they have been carried by the democrats. Then where is your pivotal state argument? These states give 98 electoral votes, while New York has but 36.—New York Metropolis.

Some of the liberals of Canada, who have been accustomed to sneer at Canadian knighthood, are nonplussed by the acceptance of that honor by Oliver Mowat, liberal premier of Ontario. Some of these guileless people have evidently yet to learn that a Canadian, like anybody else, will let very little get away, bet it money, marbles or even so doubtful an honor as Canadian knighthood. This is eminently the age of get all you can and the devil take the fellow who can get nothing.—Detroit News.

Of the 4,207 vessels that passed through the Suez canal last year, only 26 carried the American flag. But our carrying trade is not so bad as these figures indicate. There are hundreds of vessels owned by Americans which dare not sail the flag of the country, because the boats were built by or purchased from foreigners. The recent concessions made to the Inman line may in time change this, so that the flags of America will fly from the masthead of American property. Then we will make a better showing on the Suez canal.—Lancaster Examiner.

The United Commercial Travelers Are Here

With Their Ladies and the Boom Ta Ra Bands.

The Toledoans Extending a Hearty Welcome.

The Proceedings of To-day and What Can Be Expected To-morrow—A Great Layout for This Evening.

The commercial traveler is a good fellow, if he were not such he wouldn't be a commercial traveler. He must necessarily possess one or all of the following qualifications: Fatness, which, of course, includes jollity, wit, business tact, magnetism, a memory for faces, a perennial smile—no party smile, but the real article—an unlimited fund of anecdotes with which to adulterate business talk, the knack of dressing tastily and the ability to prove to all with whom he comes in contact that his house is the oldest, best, squarest and largest in its particular line in the country and don't you forget it.

He either possesses several of the above qualifications or a composite of all and consequently he is a desirable man to have about. So it is that Toledo welcomes the traveling men who are to be here to-day and to-morrow, with their ladies, on the occasion of the third annual meeting of the Grand Council of Ohio, of the United Commercial Travelers of America, in this city.

The object of this organization is to unite fraternally all commercial travelers of good moral character; to give all moral and material aid in its power to its members and those dependent upon them; also, to assist the widows and orphans of deceased members; to establish an "indemnity fund," to indemnify its members for total disability or death, resulting from accidental means; to secure from all the transportation companies and hotels, just and equitable favors for commercial travelers as a class; to elevate the moral and social standing of its members. Thus its platform is strong and broad.

All morning the delegates came trooping in with their ladies and were escorted to Pythian castle by the reception committee, headed by bands tooting Ta Ra Ta Boom Ta Ra in great style.

At 10:30 o'clock the ladies and gentlemen assembled at Pythian castle, and the meeting was called to order by A. K. Hoff, of this city, who presidrd until the arrival of Grand Counsellor C. H. Potter of Cleveland.

Rev. E. W. Hunt opened the proceedings with prayer, after which Mayor Emmick was introduced as the man who would hang the latch string out in behalf of the city. The mayor said that he rejoiced with the whole people of Toledo in welcoming the commercial travelers. "Our doors are open," he said, "and contrary to reports everything is open and it is all yours, base ball included. We are glad to welcome you because we know what good fellows you are. You never pass a brother by without giving him the helping hand, and to such men as compose your body it is a pleasure for me to say in behalf of Toledo, we bid you a hearty welcome."

Grand Counsellor Potter responded briefly, thanking Toledo Council for its hearty welcome an the expressions of hospitality so lavishly extended to the commercial travelers everywhere in the city.

The rotund form of Past Counsellor J. C. Fennimore then loomed up on the horizon and he uttered a few humorous remarks in the following strain: "We are heartily in sympathy with the city in its affliction. We are thankful for the kindness shown us, and in our best manner, which perhaps will be bad enough, we will endeavor to show our appreciation. We know you are proud of Toledo, and now that we are friends we will look forward with your citizens to the great future that is before you. We can help you in our travels across the country, and whenever we can put in a good word for you, rest assured we will do so. We know we are welcome because it is written on all the faces we meet. The small boys smile on us and the dogs wag their tails as we pass by. Never fear but that we will do our best to merit your approval and esteem."

C. L. Young, grand conductor of the state, now of Springfield, Mass., made a finished address and paid a glowing tribute to the ladies, who were present in large numbers. There's no doubt about it, Mr. Young captured the fair sex, and will be besieged to death by the ladies at the ball this evening. He also told how, some four years ago, when the U. T. C. was organized, it found the commercial travelers groping about in the dark, tempest-tossed, and it said to them as did St. Paul to the sailors, "be of good cheer, we are here to help you."

"We are here to-day," continued the speaker, "to show to the world what we have done for the commercial traveler, what we are and what we can do in the time to come, not only for the members of the U. C. T., but for all mankind."

Following the public meeting a secret session of the grand council was held to appoint committees and arrange for the meeting at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The first general orders were issued this morning by Grand Marshal J. M. Weier, as follows:

The following program for the parade on Saturday will be observed by all organizations intending to participate:

The commanders of all organizations will report to the marshal at the corner of Jefferson and Ontario streets, at 1 o'clock for assignment in line. The line will be formed as follows:

Police.
Toledo Cadets.
Councils of U. C. T.
Toledo Traveling Men's Association.
Officers of U. C. T. in Carriages.

Column will move at 1:30 p. m. sharp.

The following appointments for staff duty are hereby made: C. W. Wertz, E. Davis and E. E. Kirk, who will report, mounted, at 1 o'clock, to the marshal, for orders.

The line of march which appears below in the gripsack, was included in the orders.

Samples from the Case.

The Mansfield boys are at the Hotel Hamilton.

Take off your hat to Grand Marshal J. M. Weier.

The Fort Thomas Barracks band accompanies the Cincinnati delegation.

The decorations about the city are profuse, and bid the visitors welcome.

The Toledo Spice company will present canes to the visitors for the parade.

E. B. Ensworth, J. P. Weed and J. H. Hildebrand are on the printing committee.

Messrs. D. J. Caine and E. B. Ensworth are on the press committee and are kept busy.

The Columbus delegation will be divided between Hotel Madison and the Jefferson.

Visitors should register at the general committee's office in Pythian castle on their arrival.

The first grand counsellor, Charles L. Young, who now lives in Springfield, Mass., is here.

All members of the U. C. T. to receive tickets to Saturday evening's banquet must take part in the parade.

The sixty members of Toledo Council are acting on the reception committee and all doing some tall hustling.

Dewey, Rodgers & Co have had the emblem of the order painted on their windows and will keep open house.

The Pliny Watson Co. posts the following: "All members of the U. C. T. and traveling men are welcome here."

The Ohio Yacht club rooms and the Cycling club's parlors will be open at all times for the Knights of the Grip.

Commercial travelers will be admitted to Wheeler's opera house this evening at reduced rates on presentation of badges.

Sixty delegates arrived from Dayton at 2 o'clock this morning, accompanied by a band. They will locate at the Jefferson.

On the table in the committee rooms at Pythian castle will be found cigars with the compliments of Leland, Smith & Co.

It is expected that the parade will be over and the visitors ready to start on the boat ride at 2:30 o'clock, to-morrow afternoon.

Sunday evening Rev. D. M. Fisk will preach to the commercial travelers at the First Congregational church. All visitors are invited.

Last year at Dayton the ball was the big event of the meeting and everyone looks forward to this evening's affair with pleasure.

The programs of the meeting are handsomely printed in blue, red and gold, with the embossed emblem of Toledo Council on the parchment cover.

The traveling men regret to learn of the illness of the treasurer of the Grand Council, H. H. Dunn, of Lancaster, who will be unable to attend.

Those who desire to find out anything about badges should call on E. Davis, J. P. Weed, F. W. Brooks or S. W. Moore, who compose the committee on those articles.

Roulet & Armstrong have made 1,000 silver badges of a special design for the button holes to be presented to the visitors by the Woolson Spice company as souvenirs.

All members of Toledo council who appear in to-morrow's parade will receive tickets for themselves and ladies for the boat ride down the bay on the City of Toledo in the afternoon.

The Cincinnati delegation left home at 8 o'clock this morning on the Big Four and arrived in Toledo at 3 o'clock this afternoon on a special train over the Toledo, Columbus & Cincinnati railroad.

While the men are giving the candidates a taste of the goat at the secret session of the Grand Council at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, the ladies will be escorted about the city by the Toledo ladies.

The general committee on arrangements, composed of A. K. Hoff, J. H. Hildebrand, J. P. Weed, C. M. Dederich, F. W. Brooks and E. B. Ensworth, has had its hands full in so successfully arranging matters.

The Toledo Traveling Men's association has issued cards announcing that all commercial travelers and their friends are invited to the club rooms and parlors, 516 Summit street. "We Love You," reads the notice.

To-morrow from 11 to 1 o'clock what has been named a symposium, reception, entertainment, and luncheon will be given to the traveling men by the Woolson Spice company, at their works on Superior and Huron streets.

Chas. P. Altoph, Jas. A. Smith and R. F. Sommerville, the committee on arranegments of Gem City council, will look after the comfort of Daytonians. They have secured a handsome badge for their members.

When riding down toward the bay on the City of Toledo to-morrow afternoon the traveling men should keep an eye out for the Ohio Yacht club's summer house as a grand salute will be fired by the O. Y. C. boys as the steamer draws near.

The parade will form promptly at 1 o'clock, to-morrow at Pythian Castle and the line of march will be down Ontario to Monroe, Monroe to Summit, to Cherry, to Superior, to Adams, to Michigan, to Madison, to St. Clair, to Jefferson, to boat.

J. H. Hildebrand and E. B. Ensworth, whose critical ears can easily tell a discord in a German band, are on the music committee, consequently the air will ring with melody. The visitors insist that these gentlemen shall sing a duet as a part of their duties.

Toledo Council, No. 10, is officered as follows: Senior counselor, J. H. Hildebrand; junior counselor, A. K. Hoff; past counselor, C. M. Dederich; secretary, D. J. Caine; treasurer, H. E. Schloss; conductor, E. Davis; page, F. F. Widmer; sentinel, C. W. Wertz.

Money makes the mare go, 'tis said, and the financial end of the affair is in the hands of such moneyed men as J. H. Hildebrand, A. K. Hoff, E. B. Ensworth, F. F. Widmer, C. M. Dederich, N. Kaufman, Sam Dare, A. Friend, H. E. Schloss, S. Garnsey, E. Davis and J. B. Drago, the members of the finance committee.

The banquet comes off at Pythian Castle to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. It will be a grand success. The arrangements have been made and will be carried out by such distinguished epicurians as J. P. Weed, C. M. Dederich, E. Davis, S. Garnsey, E. B. Ensworth, J. H. Hildebrand, A. K. Hoff and A. T. Southard.

The Sample Case, the official organ of the U. C. T., this week, prints pictures of the following Toledoans, on the entertainment committee: A. K. Hoff, E. B. Ensworth, D. J. Caine, J. H. Hildebrand, C. M. Dederich, J. P. Weed and F. W. Brooks. It also contains pictures of the members of the Grand Council of Ohio.

Business men and those residing along the line of march are requested to decorate. The decoration committee is composed of J. B. Drago, H. E. Schloss, F. W. French, C. W. Wertz, J. E. Thomas, J. F. Cummins, C. B. Walker, Jos. Teipel, F. F. Widmer, V. D. J. Sisson, A. T. Southard, Anton Rensch, W. E. Kraus and S. Bachman.

Speaking of the organization to a Bee this morning Grand Counsellor Potter said: "We organized four years ago and now have 36 councils, 14 of that number being in Ohio, in which state we have a membership of nearly 1,000. The past year in Ohio we increased our membership 50 per cent, and will continue to grow at that rapid rate."

Mrs. J. F. Cummins, Mrs. J. H. Hildebrand, Mrs. H. E. Schloss, Mrs. Squire Garnsey, Miss Bessie Caine, Mrs. A. Friend, Mrs. J. P. Weed, Mrs. A. K. Hoff, Mrs. E. B. Ensworth, Mrs. J. B. Drago, Mrs. E. Davis, Mrs. F. W. Brooks and Mrs. C. W. Wertz are doing excellent work on the reception committee looking after the visiting ladies.

The Grand Council, U. C. T., is officered as follows: Grand counselor, C. H. Potter, Cleveland; junior counselor, J. C. Whitaker, Dayton; past counselor, W. A. Johnson, Cincinnati; secretary, R. F. Somerville, Dayton; treasurer, H. H. Dunn, Lancaster; conductor, J. H. Hart, Cincinnati; page, F. W. Brooks, Cincinnati; sentinel, Wm. Brent, Portsmouth.

All the officers of the Supreme Council are here. They are as follows: Supreme counselor, L. C. Pease, Columbus; junior counselor, W. A. Johnson, Cincinnati; past counselor, J. C. Fenimore, Columbus; secretary, C. B. Flagg, Columbus; treasurer, W. E. Carpenter, Columbus; conductor, C. L. Young, Springfield, Mass.; page, C. H. Strayer, Columbus; sentinel, C. H. Potter, Cleveland.

Among the distinguished guests is J. C. Whittaker, of Dayton, grand junior counselor. He will be remembered by many friends made in Toledo last summer when he was here at the patriarch militant encampment, he being the brigadier general commanding the department of Ohio. Mrs. Whittaker accompanies him on this trip. By the way, Mr. Whittaker will probably be the next grand counselor of the U. T. C.

The ball this evening will be the event of the meeting. Mrs. Suder has charge of the floral decorations. There will be banks of palms in the ballroom, and the entire hall will be festooned in green. From the central chandelier will hang a perfect gripsack, made of carnations, and at the end of the hall will hang a large floral piece inscribed "Welcome U. C. T." This evening there will be on each side of the entrance to the ball room, tables of bouquets, one for the ladies and one for gentlemen.

The Sample Case.

This is easily explained. The sample case is the official organ of the U. C. T., and its general representative, C. H. Lyman, secretary of the Columbus council, is here in full force, wreathed in smiles and original packages.

The following resolution was adopted by the board of trade to-day: "As this Produce Exchange learns with pleasure that there is a large number of delegates in the city representing the United Commercial Travelers' association, be it resolved, that we cordially invite any or all of them, with their ladies, to visit our exchange while in session, from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m., and they will be heartily welcomed."

FUEL OIL.

Two New Pipe Line Franchises Approved

By the Street Committee—A Number of Improvements and Sewers—Other Committee Business.

For a scene of confusion and noise rivaling bedlam, the committee meetings of the council are now in the lead. There were nine committes called last evening and when two or three would try to meet side by side the result was very unsatisfactory to say the least.

Not even the members could hear the reading of papers and a large part of them became disgusted and voted for everything without having the least idea of the measure before them. It was a great opportunity for lobbyists to railroad through almost anything. A simple remedy for this would be to have the committees meet in different rooms and keep outsiders from interfering with the business of the committee.

Considerable business was passed upon by the different committees last evening, but the chances are that a large part of it will be referred back to them again upon reaching the boards.

The most important business before the street committee was the two ordinances granting permission to the Paragon Refining company and the Pluto Oil company the right to lay oil pipe lines in the streets.

The former, running on Water street, particulars of which have been printed, was approved after being amended so as to prohibit the company from tearing up any paved street.

The Pluto Oil company franchise, which was also approved, covers the same territory and also a great deal more, running up into the Fifth, Ninth, Eighth wards and to Auburndale and Manhattan.

If the two fuel oil pipe lines are put down as projected it will ga a long ways toward helping out the natural gas question in Toledo, and the manufacturers will have a good, clean and cheap fuel.

Resolutions were approved to grade Union street from Woodruff to Bancroft; to grade the alley between Washington and Bartlett streets from Nineteenth to Twenty-second street; to establish the grade of East Broadway from Front street to Mott avenue; to establish the grade of Orchard street from Bowman to Broadway; to turnpike Linor street from Nevada to Treadwell.

A deed of Digby street from Lagrange to Elm was accepted.

Odinances were approved to re-establish the grade of State street; to vacate alleys in Springrove addition; to turnpike Robison street from Nevada to Woodville; to pave Bancroft street from Monroe street to the Lake Shore tracks; to grade and pave Beacon street from Cherry to Union and to grade Third street from Oak to Clark.

The sewer committee, after a lengthy debate, rejected the assessment for the extension of sewer 375. This is in Bridge street, and as the extension was outside of the sewer district, the committee found that it could not assess the property in the district and the city must foot the bill, about $3,800.

Ordinances were approved for new sewers as follows: In the alley between St. Clair and Oliver street; in Woodville street from Nevada street to Navarre avenue; in Frederick street; in Walnut street from sewer 324 to Michigan street; in Ravine alley, and in St. Louis street from Nevada street to Starr avenue.

Resolutions were approved for new sewers in Oak street, Nevada to Starr avenue; in Fifth street, Cherry to Starr avenue; in Oak street from Nevada street to Williams street.

Lieut. Judson, the engineer in charge of the straight channel, appeared before the plat committee and after his presentation of the case, the committee decided to dedicate to the government a piece of land on Grassy Point for the erection of a range light.

The committee on fire, police and health and sidewalks also held meetings and transacted small schedules of business.

EIGHT-STORY BUILDING.

C. M. Spitzer Buys the Jennings Lot on Madison,

And Will Erect Thereon a Handsome Fire-Proof Business Block—The Deal Closed.

C. M. Spitzer yesterday afternoon purchased through Geo. E. Pomeroy the Jennings tract, corner of Madison and Huron street, directly opposite the Toledo club building. The consideration was $25,000 cash.

As stated in the Bee a day or two ago Mr. Spitzer was after the Ketcham lot adjoining the club house but failing to secure that he bought the other.

Mr. Spitzer will build a handsome eight-story fire proof office building on the tract at a cost not less than $100,000.

The lot is 60 feet on Madison and 120 on Huron. The location is an excellent one and the price though high is no more than the advance in value on that street justifies.

Bacon & Huber, it is understood, will be the architects and the plans prepared for the proposed building on the Ketcham lot will probably be utilized.

PAID A GOOD PRICE.

He Went Against a Sharper and Lost His Cash.

Yuba City, Cal., May 27.—A. H. Holland, a wealthy farmer, was driving with a stranger who called himself Judge Love, of San Jose, yesterday, when they met another man who said he was an agent for the Louisiana lottery. He was willing to explain how the game could be beaten. Holland and the supposed judge each won. Then Holland drew $1,000 from the bank, "Judge Love" put up a like amount, the stranger covered it. It was all put in a tin box and the game began. Holland won. There was only some iron washers in the box he got, though a year ago a neighbor of Holland was swindled the same way.

KILLED BY A BOY.

A Fourteen-Year-Old Lad Shoots an Officer.

Macon, Ga., May 27.—Deputy Sheriff Ben F. Wilder was shot and killed yesterday on the streets of Macon by Willie Bell, a 14-year-old negro boy, whom he had under arrest for larceny. Wilder was waiting with his prisoner for a car. The officer stepped forward a few feet, and instantly the boy drew his pistol and shot him in the head, death ensuing two hours later.

The boy fled to the swamps and a posse searched for him all day yesterday without success. He will probably be lynched when caught.

TO BOOM ST. LOUIS.

Niedringhaus to Build a Little Town of His Own.

St. Louis, May 27.—Within the next few months a new town will be built on the east side of the river, two miles north of Madison, by the St. Louis Stamping company, of which W. F. and F. G. Niedringhaus are the principal stockholders.

The town will be laid out after the plan of Pullman, Ill. The principal feature of the scheme is that the Niedringhaus people propose to erect a large steel mill with the most modern plant in the country.

OPPOSITION TO THE BIG FOUR.

Dallas, Tex., May 27.—The butchers' convention yesterday decided to build a $500,000 abattoir and refrigerating plant in Dallas. The citizens of Dallas are to take $50,000 of the stock. The object is to purchase their own cattle, kill them in Dallas and ship the meat to all portions of the United States

THE BOYS HAD HIM.

Two Youngsters Capture a Man in a Swamp.

He Had Entered the Houses of M. W. Day and Mrs Webber—Masters Chicky and Laur Do a Good Job.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a man entered the house of Mrs. Webber, 1117 Ontario street, and ransacked the premises. He was observed by two men, who made for him, but did not succeed in his capture. Not so, however, with two boys, Masters Chicky and Laur. They followed the man, and although they could not take him by force they dogged him everywhere he went, over fields, fences and into the swamp by the Buckeye Brewery, where the fugutive got stuck up to his knees in mud and water. The boys perched on a fence and watched their man until they could get help. Finally the police were notified and the patrol came and relived the youthful heroes.

At the police station the man gave his name as Chas. Meiner.

After his arrest a report came to the police that the residence of M. W. Day, 524 Bush street, had been entered and some money stolen. It is thought that Meiner did that job also.

The two boys were highly praised by the police for the manner in which they caught their man.

Meiner will receive his dose in police court to-morrow morning.

TWO BUSINESS BLOCKS.

The Baumgardner Building Agreed Upon.

Work of Tearing Down the Old Mill Will Soon Commence—The New Newton Building Will be a Dandy.

The building of business blocks has taken a boom, and the boom seems to have come to stay.

The Bee yesterday gave the facts of the proposed Baumgardner building to be erected on the corner of Summit and Oak streets.

The papers were signed yesterday afternoon, and Architect Stine is hard at work perfecting the details of the plans. The building will be five and possibly six stories, with a stone and brick front.

Mr. Lewis stated to a Bee this morning that the work of tearing down the old mill would commence early in June, and the work of construction would be pushed to rapid completion.

As stated in the Bee yesterday Mr. J. T. Newton has decided to erect a handsome business block on the lot between the new Bee building and the St. Clair building. Mr. Newton said to a Bee yesterday afternoon that he proposed beginning operations at once. The blacksmith shop will be removed and excavation will be under way within ten days.

FIRE IN A HOTEL.

One Man Killed and Others Injured.

Boston, May 27.—A fire started about 2 o'clock this morning in the upper part of the Hotel Royal, a cheap lodging house at 143 Court. street.

The fire was quickly subdued by the department, but not before one man had been suffocated and several others overcome by smoke or burned.

There were some 25 lodgers in this portion of the building and many of them escaped with difficulty.

John Quinn, aged 20, was found in the upper hall unconscious and died at the hospital.

C. Clark is at the hospital and may die.

Wm. H. Wright was overcome by smoke and badly burned about the back and arms.

F. E. Parks, a cripple, was badly burned about the head and body.

These men were taken from rooms in the upper story. They are at the hospital and will doubtless recover.

It is said that an unknown man was badly burned about the head, arms and face, and that he disappeared in the crowd.

The building and contents are damaged about $3,000, insured.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Dr. Cherry Complains, with Some Reason.

To the Editor: I wish through your columns to draw the attention of the public to the high moral ground taken by the prosecuting attorney of the police court.

The day before yesterday evening I had untied my horse and placed two children in the buggy, when a man driving a heavy wagon, at a walking pace, deliberately ran into a gig which stood alongside my horse, causing the horse hitched in it to jump against mine and endanger the children. On my saying to the driver that he should not have endangered the children, the response, accompanied with much profanity, was: "Shut your mouth."

After two ineffectual attempts I succeeded in finding the prosecutor, who said: "I do not believe he can be convicted of disturbance, but if you will deposit $10 for costs I will draw up the affidavit." On its being suggested that he might be prosecuted for using profane language, the prosecutor replied: "Damn it, if we arrested everybody who used profane language we would have more than half the people here," and positively declined to issue a warrant.

From the similarity of language used investigation would probably develop that the prosecutor is a dudish relative of the man on the manure wagon, who in some mysterious way escaped from his normal vocation. WM. CHERRY.

THE WILLEY CASE.

Getting at the Truth in the Krotz Killing.

Defiance, O., May 27.—(Special)—The first witness called in the Willey case was Rev. A. L. Jordan, of the First Baptist church. He lived in the same house with Willey when the shooting took place. He described the relative positions of the Krotz and Willey houses and the barn to each other.

He was reclining on a lounge upstairs at 6:40 p. m., July 30, the day of the shooting. Willey came into the room and looked out of one of the windows towards Krotz's house and said: "I am looking for Krotz to go to the barn, as I want to put my horses up."

Willey then went out. About 7 o'clock, while the witness was still on the lounge, he heard the report of a revolver. He got up and looked out to the barn, and saw Krotz lying in the door doubled up. He ran down stairs and met Willey, who said: "I have shot Krotz. He kicked me, and I wouldn't take any more off him."

The jury and defendant were taken up to view the premises where the tragedy occurred.

The coroner, Dr. J. D. Westrick, and Sheriff Ewing were called, but their testimony revealed nothing new.

Eighteen witnesses have thus far been subpoenaed, but many more will undoubtedly be called.

Every member of the jury is a farmer.

AFTER SUNSET.

The black Downs tower to westward
A tomb for the buried sun,
The flats of the water meadows
Are fading from green to dun.

Dark spreads the vast arena,
Swart on the yellow light,
And out of the gloom and the silence
A strange voice cries to the night

Cries—and a strange voice answers,
Sudden, and hoarse, and slow,
Heavy with pain past telling,
The weight of a monstrous woe.

Still, as I wait and hearken,
I know not which they may be;
Voices of down and marshland,
Or the voice of my heart in me.

But I know that the cry they echo
Was old when the world was young,
The plaint of a nameless sorrow
Whose speech is an unknown tongue.
—Graham R. Tomson, in Scribner.

PLAYED NUMBER ELEVEN.

One of the most exclusive and aristocratic gambling houses in New York is in West Twenty-sixth street, not so many doors from Broadway. It is called a "club" by the proprietor, and the cut-glass tumblers, the table linen, the china and the design of the colored glass in the front door bears the monogram of a club. The proprietor and his associates, the dealer at the faro table and the croupiers at the roulette wheel pretend to have the manners of gentlemen and are attired in evening dress invariably. In the back room of the first story is a supper table that is always laden with rare delicacies cooked and served in a manner that might make Delmonico envious, choice wines and fine cigars that are offered gratuitously and politely by carefully trained servants to all persons who may enter the house. The rooms are furnished with rich tapestries, oriental rugs and oil paintings. Except for the extreme exclusiveness and the extra pretension to elegance, the "club" is nothing more than an ordinary gambling house.

In the front door is a false panel, through which a very dignified and courteous colored servant trains his eye when the electric button is touched outside. Only persons who have been properly introduced are allowed to enter. In nearly all other similar places in the city, no matter how high or how low the game, or how exclusive the patronage, are regular habitues, professional or semi-professional gamblers, but the Sun says they are seldom, if ever, seen in the house in West Twenty-sixth street. The gamblers there are young men of the best social standing and family connections, sons and heirs sowing their wild oats, or slightly older men of the same good connections, who take pride in being known as men about town. The rooms are empty generally until near midnight. Then the young men begin to drop in, very often with flowers or cotillon favors in their button-holes, and white gloves on their hands, and nearly always in a state of reckless exhilaration from the effects of wine.

A few days ago a man about thirty-five years of age, with dark hair and a small, dark mustache, went upstairs to the gambling room, bought $200 worth of chips at the roulette table, and, after playing about an hour lost them and stopped. It was about 10:30 o'clock when he entered the house, and only one other player came into the room during the next hour. He talked pleasantly to the croupier while he played, and told some anecdotes about gambling in California. He admired the wheel and the table, which he examined closely. He seemed to treat his play more as a diversion than as a serious matter, and apparently took no more interest in losing his money than the croupier did in winning it. He made all his bets on the number 11, putting up $5 at a time in a monotonous manner.

After losing $200 worth of chips he nodded pleasantly to the croupier, and, expressing the hope of seeing him again, went down stairs. He stopped in the dining room on his way out on the invitation of the proprietor, who was smoking with some of his guests in the front room, and was served with a bottle of champagne and some supper. He lighted a cigar, shook hands with the proprietor, and, after expressing the hope that he would be remembered the next time he came, went out.

The following night at about 10:30 o'clock he entered again and went upstairs to the roulette table. Only the croupier and a colored attendant were in the room. The faro dealer and the assistant croupiers were down stairs, eating supper, as was their custom, before the usual time when the players were expected to drop in. Mr. C. greeted the croupier pleasantly, and bought $500 worth of $5 chips. The croupier began spinning the wheel, and Mr. C. played on No. 11, as he had done the night before, putting a number of checks on the number each time. After a few turns the ball fell into No. 11, and he was paid $350. As he reached across the table carelessly to take the chips that the croupier had counted out for him his cuff struck one of the stacks, scattering the chips on the floor behind the table by the croupier.

"I beg your pardon," he said, jumping up as if to catch the chips.

"Don't disturb yourself; they're right here," the croupier remarked, as he bent down behind the table and began picking them up.

In a minute he put them on the table and stacked them up again. Mr. C. said "thank you," and the game proceeded. He increased his bets on the 11, and played $25 and $50 at a time. In a few minutes the other attaches came up from the supper table, and the inebriated young men began to come in from the theaters and clubs. Before long half a dozen players were at the roulette table, and the two croupiers had all they could attend to in counting out the chips and keeping the game going.

That night No. 11 had a marvelous run. At about 2:30 o'clock the Californian cashed about $15,000 worth of chips. The proprietor had come up from down stairs when he was informed how things were going, and watched the play rather nervously. Mr. C. smiled pleasantly when the money was counted out for him, nodded to the croupier and shook hands with the proprietor. It was late, and he declined the invitation to have a bite of supper before he left. He took a cigar and went out.

About an hour later, when only one or two players remained at the wheel, croupier, in picking the ball out of No. 11, noticed a white spot on the corner of the number. The corner had been turned back. He looked at the wheel intently for a moment, and then, without saying anything, moistened his finger and stuck the corner down again. Half an hour later the last player left. The croupier called his associates over to him, and sent down stairs for the proprietor.

'Look at that wheel carefully," he said. "Do you notice anything wrong about it?"

He pointed with his finger to No. 11. Then he pointed over at the opposite side of the wheel to a number. There were two numbers 11. With his finger nail he picked up the corner of one of the compartments, and, carefully pulling back a piece of paper on which No. 11 was painted, disclosed No. 17 underneath it.

Everything was plain then. When he stooped down to pick up the chips behind the table Mr. Coleman from California had made use of the opportunity to better his chances on 11. The bogus number was made, in exact imitation of the others, on a piece of paper with mucilage on the back. Although the croupier discovered the fraud while the game was in progress he did not dare to take notice of it, for fear the players would suspect the house of doing something crooked and circulate the story. Afterward no pains were taken to keep the occurrence secret. The proprietor had told it to a number his friends as an expensive joke on himself. Mr. C. never returned to the "club."—Chicago Herald.

KILLED A BANKER.

Lincoln, Neb., May 27.—William H. Irwin, a prominent business man, shot and killed Charles E. Montgomery, president of the German National bank, at the breakfast table in the Lincoln hotel here. Irwin was arrested. He charged Montgomery with seducing Mrs. Irwin and her daughter. The tragic affair has created the most intense excitement.

WAVES MOUNTAIN HIGH—

Or somewhat less—threaten, during a storm, to engulf the venturous voyager on the tempestuous Atlantic. Sometimes he is torn with deep despair at such a juncture, sometimes he is rather glad of it. The latter condition of mind obtains when he is sea sick. The diabolical qualms which he has undergone, and which are now aggravated ten fold by the pitching of the ship, render him in a measure indifferent to his fate. This picture is scarcely exaggerated, as people who have been violently sea sick will assure you. Travelers and tourists by sea and land should always be provided with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a means of counteracting sea sickness and the nervous disturbance of stomachic trouble begotten of uncomfortable transit by land or water, or unwholesome food hastily swallowed at railway stations. Emigrants should supply themselves with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a family safeguard against malaria, stomach, liver and bowel complaints, kidney trouble and rheumatism.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

SALISBURY IN A WRECK

Sensational Scenes on the Streets of London.

The English Premier Has a Very Close Call.

His Team Runs Away and Rolls the Fat Lord Around the Inside of the Cab.

London, May 26.—The premier of England had a narrow escape to-day from serious accident.

Lord Salisbury was driving with a pair of horses and a brougham near the houses of parliament. The horses were lively and on St. James street they began to kick. The coachman tried in vain to control them. Giving up kicking the horses made a dash for a lamp post. They rammed and jammed the brougham against the lamp post, the coachman meanwhile continuing his efforts to control the animals, and being almost as frantic as they were, in his anxiety for the safety of his passenger.

A crowd gathered and it was whispered around that Lord Salisbury was in the brougham. Policemen rushed to the rescue, and one of them who tried to seize a horse by the hind leg received a knock-down blow. The brougham was overturned and the coachman thrown, receiving painful but not serious injuries.

Lord Salisbury, who weighs 290 pounds, was entrapped in the brougham. In the overthrow of the vehicle his lordship was himself overturned and badly shaken and bruised. He did not shout for help, however, but waited patiently for the policemen and the crowd to get him out.

Stalwart hands were reached into the broughom, and his lordship, limp and dishevelled, with his hat jammed down, and his usually faultless tie awfully wrinkled, was dragged to the light like a burglar out of a coal hole.

As soon as his lordship's feet touched the pavement he straightened up and tried to assume an air of affability and dignity.

In this he was not eminently successful. He thanked the policemen and others who had assisted, inquired as to the coachman's injuries and remarking that he himself was all right, started on foot for the foreign office.

His lordship evidently had a severe shake-up, but there is no reason to believe that he is badly hurt.

THEY WILL ROB NO MORE

Highwaymen Shot Down Like Dogs.

The Last Letter Home of One of the Dead Men—Some Exciting Scenes.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 26.—Two of the express robbers who held up the train at Monroe Junction last Saturday morning and killed Messenger Saunders have paid the penalty of their crime. They were killed at Buffalo Bluff bridge, on the St. John river, five miles south of Palatka. The third, who was with them, is at large, but will probably be run down. A Palatka special says:

At about 12:30 o'clock to-day a hatless negro staggered into the court house and said: "Come to Buffalo Bluff—robbers." Deputy Sheriff Dyson aroused his posse and a special train left with them.

At 11:30 a. m., George Wurtz and T. H. Wigg, the guard placed by the sheriff's posse at Buffalo Bluff bridge, saw three men coming from the south on the railroad track. As the first passed three feet ahead of the others the guards called "Hands up!" and the first one obeyed. The second and third drew their revolvers, and the guards knew that the desperate robbers were facing them. The firing began by the robbers and a bullet grazed Wigg. Wurtz fired his shotgun, loaded with buckshot, and Williams fell. The man in advance then ran toward Palatka; the other man backward, and was shot in the leg by Wurtz. An engine load of young men composed the special and among them was Dr. Benjamin E. Morgan and Mr. Willard, of the express company. This special now arrived on the scene. The big man of the robbers had taken to the swamp. They pursued him and suddenly a ball ripped through Dr. Morgan's vest. He saw the robber behind a fallen tree and fired a shotgun loaded with buckshot, and Saunder's murderer had met his doom. Both bodies were laid on the bridge and afterward brought into town on a passing freight train.

The big murderer's thoughts as he heard the guards coming, and knew that he was about to die, are interesting. They were written on the back of a map as the culprit lay behind a tree:

Dear Mother—The time has come that you and I shall part ,and I hope that you will not grieve after me, for I have no fear. I would write more, but I have not time. Kiss the children for me and tell them to do better than I have done and they will live longer than I have. Farewell, dear mother.

"Send this to Susan Bedgood, Aribi, Dooley county, Ga. I never expect to give up a thing, and I ask you to send me home at Aribi, Ga. So, with this, I close forever. Please send my body to Aribi, Ga."

The face of the murderer of Saunders was covered with blood and blackened with powder. Before he died he said that, being desperately wounded, he shot himself in the mouth with his pistol. A posse with deer hounds is pursuing the other man, and Superintendent Ayers and party are going on a special train to their assistance. A capture is almost certain.

THEY MET FACE TO FACE

M. Reymond and His Wife in Court.

She Still Loves the Man Who by His Misconduct Made Her Commit Murder.

Paris, May 26.—M. Raymond, husband of the woman who murdered Madame Lassimonne, in a house in the Rue de Rocher, Saturday night, has made his appearance again.

He has been secluded in the house of his mother, to which he went immediately after the tragedy. The mother denied to the police that she had seen her son. The faithless husband and his wife were confronted before a magistrate yesterday. They had a most affectionate meeting, Madame Reymond showing that she still loved her husband notwithstanding his infidelity and the husband exhibiting both sympathy and affection for the woman whom his misconduct had driven to murder.

The stories of husband and wife agreed substantially, M. Reymond admitting his guilty intimacy with Madame Lassimonne and that he was surprised by his wife under circumstances that left no doubt of his wrong-doing.

IT MAKES PEOPLE WELL.

Best Spring Remedy in the World—It is Not a Patent Nostrum.

There is one true specific for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system, and that is Paine's celery compound, so generally prescribed by physicians. It is probably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M.D., LL.D., of Dartmouth College, first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's celery compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism and kidney troubles. For the latter, Paine's celery compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

Washington correspondents have recently given it a great deal of attention since the most wonderful cure effected in the case of Commodore Howell.

The medical journals of the country have given more space in the last few years to the many remarkable cases where the use of Paine's celery compound has made people well than to any other one subject.

CHICAGO SAND-BAGGERS.

A Scandal of Gigantic Proportions.

The Electric Light Companies and the World's Fair People Have Had a Difficulty.

Chicago, May 27.—The scandal growing out of the attempt on the part of the electric light companies to sand-bag the World's fair out of nearly $500,000 will not down, and there is now talk on the part of heavy stockholders of calling a meeting for the purpose of demanding a thorough investigation no matter who may be implicated.

Leading members of the committee, including some whose names are of national repute, and who are identified with corporations whose ramifications extend into nearly every city, village and hamlet in the country, are already tumbling over each other in their eagerness to proclaim their ignorance of any knowledge of any underhanded methods, and their desire to do only what is right and just in the interest of the enterprise.

Those who are behind the scenes, however, say that when the full story comes out there will be developments as unexpected as they will be startling.

A STRANGE CASE.

Humiliating Experience for a Would-Be Bride in India.

"Hypnotised or not hypnotised?" is the question that is now exciting the curiosity of the people in Calcutta. The occasion is the strange story of a bridegroom, a young government clerk, who has three times bidden his bride and her friends to meet him at the altar of St. John's church in that city, with no result save the postponement of the ceremony. On the first occasion the bride and her friends mustered in force, but no bridegroom appeared.

The explanation given in the Indian Daily News is that his friends at the last moment by some means packed him off by the afternoon train up the line. "By some means" is vague. The question is by what means. When some distance from Calcutta (we are told) it dawned upon him that this was a summary proceeding, and, returning by the earliest opportunity, he arranged to be married next morning.

But again the ceremony was destined to be deferred, for when that part of it had been reached where the bridegroom has to respond "I will," the unfortunate young fellow fell down in a stupor which lasted several hours. He was removed to the vestry, and all attempts to bring him to having failed, he was taken home by some of his friends.

Such was the position of affairs as described by an Indian contemporary on the authority of the officiating clergyman. Since then the case has reached another stage, and we are informed that "the young man made a third attempt." Just, however, as "the crucial question" was put to him, he fell into a fit as on the second occasion, and so again no marriage that day. The consequence is that dark hints of "hypnotic influence" have become open insinuations, and Calcutta is reported to be determined that medical men shall say "what they have to say about it."

TWO ANIMALS AT A SHOT.

One Was a Panther and the Other a Deer Which He Had Attacked.

A friend of mine who lives in one of the wildest portions of Northern California came to town last week to purchase food supplies, says a writer in Forest and Stream. When down he always has something interesting to say about his life in the wilds. He killed 11 bears and 10 panthers last winter, and it was not much of a season for wild animals either. Once on his rounds (for he is on the range looking after his sheep every day with rifle and dogs), he saw a deer acting in a queer manner. Being where he could see and not be seen, my friend quietly awaited developments. The deer was looking in a certain direction, evidently much frightened.

On looking around my friend saw a panther coming from an entirely different direction, but seeming to throw its voice so as to deceive the frightened deer. All the time it kept getting nearer and nearer. At last being near enough it gave a leap, landing on the deer and gave it its death blow. Then the time came for my friend to interfere and he did so by drawing a bead and hitting his mark "dead-center," thus getting two animals for one shot. I must not forget to state that they were both so poor that it did not pay to save their pelts.

DO YOU WANT GOLD?

Cripple Creek is not a health resort. It is a wealth resort. Quite a difference! Location, near Pike's Peak, in Colorado. Gold—bright, yellow gold, is found as grass roots and in the rock formation.

Reliable experts claim this is to-day the richest camp in Colorado. Assays average $100 per ton, and have run as high as $5,000. One hundred people a day are now rushing to Fremont, chief town of the district.

The chance of a life-time is worth looking after!

You can get there quickly and comfortably by taking Santa Fe Route. Only line with no change of cars from Chicago, Kansas City and other principal cities to Florissant, nearest railroad station, with daily stages to Fremont.

AIMED AT THE TRUSTS

Representative Bryan Strikes a the Evil.

The Customs House the Father of Combines.

A Bill to Authorize the President to Put all Cornered Articles on the Free List.

Washington, May 26.—Representative Bryan, democrat, of Nebraska, has introduced in the house a bill to amend the act of July, 1890, known as the anti-trust law.

The bill amends the law so as to provide that whenever any circuit court of the United States shall find in a case pending before it under this act that any contract or combination in the form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce among the several states or with foreign nations, exists in respect to any article or articles upon which any duties are levied by the then existing tariff laws of the United States, it shall be the duty of the court to report the facts so found to the president of the United States, setting forth specifically each and every such article.

It shall be the duty of the president, on the receipt of such report, to issue his proclamation placing each and every such article when imported into the United States upon the free list, and shall fix the time not exceeding thirty days from the receipt of the finding of the court at which such article shall be admitted free of duty, and on and after the date fixed in said proclamation such article or articles shall, when imported into the United States, be admitted free of duty; provided, that whenever such article or articles are subjected to a tax under the internal revenue laws of the United States the duty on such articles shall be equal to such internal revenue tax, and from and after the date fixed by the president's proclamation such articles shall be admitted when imported into this country, subject to a duty equal to the internal revenue tax on such articles.

Mr. Bryan thinks the bill, if enacted, will strike trusts in a vital way. He does not introduce it as a committee bill, but it has the approval of several of his associates on the ways and means committee, to which it was referred.

At the dictation of the men put in power by the Unionists in Australasia, all immigration into the colony is prohibited, so that thousands of people now unemployed there may have an opportunity to find work.

The remarkable growth which, till within two years, was brought about principally by one person telling another, is a monument to Garfield Tea's merits.

An amendment to the constitution of the state of New York forbids any city or county having more than 100,000 inhabitants to incur debts exceeding in the aggregate 10 per cent. of the real estate valuation of the district.

We use Alcohol

pure alcohol to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING. Alcohol is good for leather; it is good for the skin. Alcohol is the chief ingredient of Cologne, Florida Water, and Bay Rum the well known face washes. We think there is nothing too costly to use in a good leather preservative.

Acme Blacking retails at 20c.

and at that price sells readily. Many people are so accustomed to buying a dressing or blacking at 5c. and 10c. a bottle that they cannot understand that a blacking can be cheap at 20c. We want to meet them with cheapness if we can, and to accomplish this we offer a reward of

for a recipe which will enable us to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING at such a price that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c. a bottle. We hold this offer open until Jan. 1st, 1893.

SO SAY WE ALL OF US.

I'm an old smoker, and have at one time or another tried all the different Smoking Tobaccos, but for a good smoke Bull Durham beats 'em all.

A leading characteristic of Bull Durham has always been the hold which it takes on old and fastidious smokers. What its excellence first secured, its uniformity has always retained, and it is, therefore, to-day as twenty-five years ago, the most popular Smoking Tobacco in the world.

FRANCE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE,
38 & 40 W. Gay St., one block N. of State House, Columbus, O. Incorporated, 1886. Capital, $300,000.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, of New York, the well known and successful Specialists in Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear, on account of their large practice in Ohio, have established the FRANCE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where all forms of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases will be successfully treated on the most Scientific principles. They are ably assisted by a full corps of eminent Physicians and Surgeons, each one being a well known specialist in his profession

CANCER positively cured without pain or use of the knife, by a new method.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. FRANCE, after years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for all diseases peculiar to the sex. Female diseases positively cured by the new remedy, OLIVE BLOSSOM. The cure is effected by home treatment. Entirely harmless and easily applied. Consultation Free and Strictly Confidential. Correspondence promptly answered.

YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases (and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, our success has been marked, over two-thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, of color. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

MARRIAGE.—Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualification, speedily restored.

PRIVATE DISEASES.—Blood Poison, Venereal Taint, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Emissions, Loss of Sexual Power, Weakness of Sexual Organs, Want of Desire in Male or Female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and permanently cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed. Medicines sent free from observation to all parts of the United States.

EPILEPSY, OR FITS—Positively cured by a new and never-failing method. Testimonials furnished.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine (that passed first in the morning preferred), which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination, and if requested a written analysis will be given.

Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately. Delays are dangerous.

WONDERFUL CURES Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail or express, but where possible, personal consultation is preferred. Curable cases guaranteed. No risks incurred.

Cases and correspondence confidential. Treatment sent C. O. D. to any part of U. S. List of 130 questions free. Address, with postage, DR. FRANCE, Nos. 38 and 40 W. Gay St., Columbus, O.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Currents for Produce and Other Articles.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 197,252 bus., and at five other western points 160,202 bus.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were wheat 658,985 bus., and flour to an aggregate of 800,000 bus. Exports of corn 202,152 bus., and of oats 557,715 bus.

English markets open dull and heavy, but unchanged in price for wheat and firm and shade higher for corn.

The Markets To-day.

It requires but little effort to report the conditions that govern the wheat markets in this country to-day. Foreign markets opened very dull, but unchanged in prices. Export clearances are large, but it only makes an average on the past day or two when they have been light. We are approaching two days of rest—Sunday and Monday—and besides, New York adjourns to-morrow also. A great many dealers do not want to go home short or long for two days, and therefore wheat is dull everywhere. Another reason is, the weather question is yet unsettled, and it is raining again in the Dakotas. This raining business is being greatly overdone, so far as mortal vision extends. According to Foster of St. Joseph, and according to experience, the vicinities that are wet in May are to be visited with subsequent drouth. A slight foretaste of the latter would be acceptable about now, for a change.

But if the markets for wheat have been very dull, they have also been very steady and the fluctuations have been marked by small fractions up to about the close when prices advanced, and for July closed 3-8c higher east and west.

Corn for July has also been quite steady but a shade lower. In New York May closed at 58c, and in Chicago 70c bid.

Foreign markets are all reported as closing lower for wheat.

In New York May wheat closed unchanged. July 5-8c lower. May corn 5c lower. July 5-8c lower. May oats 1-2c lower.

In Chicago May and July wheat closed 3-8c higher. May corn 6c higher, July 1-4c lower. May oats 3-4c lower.

In Toledo business continues very dull. Trading in wheat was limited, and divided about equally between May and July. Opening prices were at about yesterday's closing, and after a light and uneventful business closed 1-4c better for cash and May, 1-8c lower for June, 1-8c better for July and August. On the call May sold at 92 1-2c and July at 86 7-8c. After the call May sold at 92 5-8c to 93c and closed at 92 3-4c; June sold at 90 5-8c to 90 1-2c; July sold at 87c to 87 1-8c and closed at that; August sold at 85 1-4c and closed at that bid. Cash wheat was in moderate demand; No. 2 soft sold at 92 1-2c to 92 3-4c and closed at 92 1-2c; No. 3 soft, 88 1-2c; rejected No. 1 at 86c; smutty at 86c.

FLAG RAISING

At the Lagrange Street School This Afternoon.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon a fine American flag was hoisted on the Lagrange street school building. The flag was secured through the efforts of Mr. Edward Nicklet and Mr. Harmon Kahlo, and both of these gentlemen were present to witness the ceremony. The scholars, bearing miniature flags, assembled in the yard, and after the singing of patriotic songs, Mr. Wm. Beatty, for the donors, in a few words called attention to the blessings gained under the flag, and then pulled the cords which carried it to the top of the building amid the cheers of those present.

CATARRHAL DYSPEPSIA.

A Disease that is Very Prevalent in City and Country.

The symptoms of catarrhal dyspepsia are: Coated tongue, pain or heavy feeling in the stomach, sour stomach, belching of gas, dizzy head, sometimes headache, despondent feelings, loss of appetite, palpitation of heart and irregularity of the bowels.

For this condition I find Pe-ru-na to be an admirable remedy. In all cases it brings prompt relief to the painful symptoms, and in a large per cent. of cases it makes a permanent cure. Pe-ru-na soothes the inflamed mucous surface, and thus strikes at the root of the disease. In cases where the inflammation has been so severe and continued as to produce ex-treme irritability of the stomach, the remedy may be taken in small doses at first, diluted in water; but, as soon as the improvement is sufficient to permit the full dose to be taken undiluted, it is a better way, and the cure is much more rapid. Each bottle of Pe-ru-na is accompanied with complete directions for use. Kept by most druggists in the United States. If your druggist does not happen to have it in stock, he will order it for you.

A valuable pamphlet of 32 pages, setting forth in detail the treatment of catarrh, coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis and consumption, in every phase of dress by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Co., of Columbus, O.

Brooklyn, Nov. 16, 1890.
Messrs. Stultz & Bauer.
Desiring to purchase a new piano, I visited all the different warerooms in New York in search of an instrument exactly suiting me. Having been a pupil of Mills for several years, I confess to being particular. After three month's diligent search I secured the coveted prize at your factory. It has been in constant use four years during which time I have proved it to contain all the requirements that make up a perfect piano; its sweetness of tone and brilliancy have been greatly admired by several prominent artists. Feeling so much gratified myself, I take great pleasure in strongly advising persons contemplating buying a piano to purchase a Stultz & Bauer, as they will be assured of a beautiful, lasting instrument. Yours respectfully,
MRS. E. GALER (nee L. Du Bois),

The word costermonger was originally costardmonger; that is apple-seller. Their noisy manners were commented upon in Queen Elizabeth's day. There are now over thirty thousand costers in London.

If Barytes and other adulterants of White Lead are just as good as

why is it that all the bogus and adulterated white leads are always branded "Pure," or "Strictly Pure White Lead?"

No one ever puts a misleading brand on an article of merchandise, unless he wants to "work off" an inferior for a better.

This Barytes or Baryta, is a heavy white powder, worthless as paint; costing only about one cent per pound and is used to adulterate and cheapen the mixture. No one ever adulterates white lead with an article costing more than Lead.

If you purchase any of the following brands you are sure of having strictly pure white lead—

ANCHOR (Cincinnati)
ARMSTRONG & McKELVY (Pittsburgh)
BEYMER-BAUMAN (Pittsburgh)
COLLIER (St. Louis)
CORNELL (Buffalo)
DAVIS-CHAMBERS (Pittsburgh)
ECKSTEIN (Cincinnati)
FAHNESTOCK (Pittsburgh)
MORLEY (Cleveland)
RED SEAL (St. Louis)
SHIPMAN (Chicago)
SOUTHERN (St. Louis and Chicago)

These brands of strictly pure White Lead and the National Lead Co.'s Tinting Colors are for sale by the best dealers in paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card to do so.

The Russian government is taking steps to relieve the distress occasioned by the famine. About 100,000 men and 45,000 horses are to be employed at once in clearing a tract of 30,000 acres of forest land, while 140,000 men and 26,000 horses are to be employed in building public highways.

The latest issue of an interchangeable 1,000-mile ticket by the T. & O. C. railway is good upon thirty-two (32) lines of transportation. All agents have a list of these lines and the traveling public are invited to inspect same.

A WONDERFUL STAR.

One, That No Man Has Seen, a Center of Revolution for Other Orbs.

The many wonderful discoveries in astronomy recently made by the aid of photography have seemed to leave the older methods of astronomical investigation far in the rear. But just now Mr. S. C. Chandler, of Boston, has made what may be called a discovery by the aid of mathematical methods, recalling the achievement of Leverrier and Adams in the detection of Neptune 50 years ago. There is in the northern sky a star known as Algol, which the sharp-sighted Arabs, who discovered its variations in light, called the demon star. Every two days, twenty hours and forty-nine minutes this star suddenly begins to fade and continues to grow fainter for three or four hours, at the end of which it has sunk from the second to nearly the fourth magnitude. After remaining thus for a few minutes it begins to brighten, and in the course of three or four hours more regains its former brilliancy. Within the past few years it has been discovered that there is a huge dark body revolving around Algol at a distance of some 3,000,000 miles, and to this phenomenon the variations in Algol's light are due. At regular intervals the dark companion star comes into the line of sight between Algol and the earth, and thus partially eclipses Algol, cutting off perhaps five-sixths of its light.

These stars, Algol and its strange nonluminous comrade, are of great size, Algol itself being more than 1,100,000 miles in diameter, while the diameter of the dark body that circles around it is 840,000 miles

Mr. Chandler, meditating on certain irregularities in the motions of Algol and its companion, suspected that they might be due to the presence of another invisible star in their immediate neighborhood. He carefully compared the observations back to the time of Goodricke, more than a hundred years ago, and pursuing a mathematical method similar to that which resulted in the discovery of Neptune through the effect of its attraction on Uranus, he arrived at the conclusion that such another star must actually exist. According to his conclusion this mysterious body is far more massive than either Algol or its companion, but does not give forth any perceptible light, and it forms a center of attraction around which both of the other stars revolve in a nearly circular orbit, in a period of 130 years. Mr. Chandler's theory seems to fit in well with the observed irregularities of Algol. He remarks, moreover, that there are several other stars known to astronomers to be variable which evidently have one or more dark companions like those of Algol.

It is natural to inquire what is the nature of these mysterious dark bodies existing in the neighborhood of bright stars comparable in brilliancy with our own sun, and evidently obeying the same law of gravitation that prevails in our solar system. The primary distinction between a sun and a planet is that the former glows with a brilliant light of its own, while the planet, having been encrusted with a solid and opaque shell, only shines by the reflected light which it receives from its sun. The dark companions of Algol, which, by its eclipsing effect, produces the variation in the light of the star, is not very inferior in size to its bright comrade, while the greater dark body, whose existence seems to be demonstrated by Mr. Chandler's investigations, greatly exceeds them both in mass. Here, then, if we choose to adopt the idea that this great invisible orb around which Algol revolves is a planet in our sense of the word, we have a world which is the center of motion for the sun that illuminates it.—New York Sun.

MONEY VALUE OF PURE WATER.

Aside from all sentiment and duty, the importance of pure water may be considered from a pecuniary standpoint. All sanitariums agree that a majority of typhoid fever cases come from polluted water, while some eminent authorities claim that the disease is transmitted only by this agent. A conservative estimate of the value of an average individual to the state is at least $1,000, so when we consider about 40,000 persons die annually in the United States from this disease, a loss of more than $40,000,000 to the nation is clearly shown. Besides there are about 400,000 cases of this disease each year in our country, which costs the people many million dollars more. Add to this the expense attached to other diseases that are transmitted by impure water, and the estimate will be swelled to enormous proportions. Every city and town using impure water should consider these facts and hasten to supply its citizens with pure water from public works. —Dr. Floyd Davis in Engineering Magazine.

An Edinburgh (Scotland) man claims to have discovered in a lumber room "the fiddle on which Thomson played our glorious Scottish melodies to Burns, the strains of which compelled him to lift up his voice and sing. A melody seized his fancy, and straightway the world was enriched by another gem of song. He wrote his songs to the music; melody was needed to wake his muse to ecstasy. Without Thomson and his fiddle the songs of Burns would have been fewer and possibly less full of sweetness." Robert Cox is the present owner's name.

Gen. Custer believed in having martial music on all possible occasions. He would have the band out at 5 o'clock in the morning and the last thing in the evening. One day when the narrator's regiment had just come into camp, Gen. Custer ordered the band out. The men were tired, and reported that they had lost the mouthpieces to their instruments. "Very well," said the General, "you may take pick-axes and shovels and help repair the roads. You may find the missing mouth-pieces while you are working." It is unnecessary to state that the band played soon after.

The millstones used in the United States formerly came from France, but an excellent substitute was found in the buhrstone of Pennsylvania and Ohio, and that is now used to the exclusion of the foreign product.

Mary: "Why have you taken the bottle of Carlsbad Sprudel Salt from my washstand? You know I want it in the morning, or I will suffer from indigestion and headache all day."

Every woman can lessen the number and frequency of her headaches by assisting nature by natural means. The Carlsbad Sprudel Salt, which is evaporated from the natural waters of Carlsbad, taken early in the morning, before breakfast, and, if necessary, at bedtime, will supply these means.
